293 DEAD AS FLOOD MOVES SOUTH

Killer of Placentia Man Is Convicted

LIFE PRISON TERM URGED BY JURY

Witnesses Recall George Johnson Shooting on Hunting Trip

Jack Poe, Imperial Valley engineer and well known Salton sea character, today faces a possible sentence of life imprisonment following his conviction yesterday of murdering George Johnson, pioneer Placentia rancher, last Nov. 28 near Brawley.

A jury of six men and six women at Brawley found Poe guilty of shooting Johnson and recommended a life sentence.

Acted Queerly
The Placentia man witnesses said, was shot without warning from a distance of about three feet by a shotgun in the hands of Poe, who had been acting queerly near gun clubs for more than a week. The engineer, witnesses testified, had threatened several other hunters, and had held a woman visitor prisoner in her car for several hours.

The climax of a number of quarrels, it was testified, came when Poe attempted to halt Johnson and Raymond and Frank Trendle of Fullerton from loading a boat on their trailer. Johnson remonstrated and was shot without warning, dying instantly.

PRICE FIXING ACT LEGAL

LOS ANGELES—Wholesalers and distributors, as well as producers and manufacturers, have power to fix retail resale prices under the state fair trade act, Superior Judge Emmet H. Wilson held today.

Find Boy's Bones In Harvard Dump

BOSTON—A police squad dug today through a dump not far from Harvard stadium, searching for missing bones of five-year-old Chester Harris of Cambridge, found dead in the tragic conclusion of a 10-weeks search.

Other police went to East Cambridge jail to question a 27-year-old laborer held for an alleged attack on a young boy close to the Harris child's home. Another man who told police several weeks ago the boy's body would be found in a factory near the dump, also was listed for questioning.

Discovery of the lad's skull, ribs, pelvis bone and the bone of the upper right arm ended a hunt that began last Oct. 31.

Down to Last Dollar In Townsend Plan Test

CHELSEA, Wash. (AP)—C. C. Fleming, Chelsea's 63-year-old Townsend plan tester, fingered the last of his 200 test dollar bills today, jingled his few remaining coins and declared:

"Maw and I are breaking that last dollar to go to the show tonight—if the weather's not too bad."

The rejuvenated unemployed orchard worker, who hasn't earned a penny since the apple harvest season, said he had only $1.35—and a fifth of a cent state sales tax token—left.

But the future held bright hopes for the man who slid down a Townsend experimental rainbow. He said Isom Lamb, Chelsea county Townsend supervisor who donated the first $200, had promised him $200 a month for five more months if he failed to find a job which would pay as much before the end of January.

Elks Chase Giant Turtle For Soup

By KENNETH ADAMS
Now the Elks are out hunting for a turtle! They want a big one, weighing at least 120 pounds, ringside. Which is something of a turtle. If anyone sees a 120-pound turtle, or heftier, running around, he is urged to contact H. R. "Nehi" Brinkerhoff—or a psychiatrist. Especially if it's a pink turtle.

Brinkerhoff wants to make soup of the turtle. For the opening dish on the Elks' sumptuous dinner which will be served gratis to good Elks who bring a new member into the lodge before the end of the joyous feast the latter part of February.

Will Display Trophy
The Elks think that it may be necessary to go down into Mexico to get a turtle big enough for the feed, which will be the most elaborate banquet ever staged in this city. When they get the turtle, they will put it on display in a prominent local place before boiling it and serving it to the Elks.

The Journal found a turtle in Los Angeles, but it wasn't very satisfactory. It was 200 years old and pretty dead, a casualty of the January freeze. Elmer, as it was affectionately known, was sent to a taxidermist's by Los Angeles zoo attendants, so it really wasn't available for eating purposes. The aged turtle crawled into his shell last week and refused to budge, even when a fire was lighted under his frosty belly. Maybe he had heard about the Elks' dinner. Who knows?

"Classy Meal"
When the turtle the Elks plan to get is served he should be proud, for he will be green turtle soup a la Louisianne. Any turtle should be proud of a name like that.

Elks who don't get a member and want to attend the banquet, being arranged by Brinkerhoff, must plank down $7.50. For the one meal. Which shows you what a classy meal it will be.

There may be some tummy aches, but they'll have had a lot of fun!

Will Stop Violence In Auto Strikes

DETROIT (AP)—Governor Frank Murphy reiterated at Lansing today the state's intention to prevent bloodshed or violence in connection with General Motors strikes, but told a delegation from the Flint alliance it was impossible to answer their demand that he "guarantee all workers full protection in going to and coming from work."

S. A. Basbach of Flint, a Buick worker, headed the group which an alliance mass meeting at Flint Tuesday instructed to demand a "yes" or "no" answer from the executive. The alliance was organized to express anti-strike sentiment.

BLOCKADE OF SPAIN IS RUSHED

European Navies Will Combine To Isolate Warring Nation

LONDON (AP)—International negotiators, spurred by Italo-German promises to cooperate, rushed plans today to isolate war-infected Spain.

A neutral naval blockade of Spanish ports, the German and Italian promises to cooperate, rushed plans today to isolate war-infected Spain.

Details of the plan, considered while the Madrid government forces were reporting new strategic victories, still were indefinite. To bolster the coastal blockade of foreign arms and men, the non-intervention sub-committee hoped posting of neutral observers on the Hispano-Portuguese border would be permitted, but Portugal expressed uncompromising opposition.

STATE MAY DIP IN OIL CASE

The Standard Oil company began firing its big legal guns today in the superior court suit which is expected to settle the question of whipstock drilling at Huntington Beach.

Most of the time yesterday and today was consumed in selecting a jury, which was completed today. As soon as the jury was picked, Oscar Lawler, Standard Oil attorney, made the opening statement in the case, which names the Southern California drilling company and the Severns Drilling company as defendants.

Court observers said today that the state may intervene in this case to protect its rights.

Senator Harry Westover said today the assembly passed a resolution instructing the state to intervene but that no action has been taken by the senate.

Lawler discussed the location of the Standard wells adjoining the ocean front. He said there is a geological fault called the Walnut street fault between the ocean and drilling property where Standard operates. He claimed that the Severns well whipstocked into this pool.

'Biff' Jones New Nebraska U. Coach

LINCOLN, Neb.—The University of Nebraska athletic council announced today selection of Major Lawrence "Biff" Jones as the new Cornhusker football coach succeeding Dana F. Bible, who resigned to become grid mentor at Texas university.

Manuel Serna, of the Santa Anita Mexican colony, took the stand in his own behalf today as the trial in superior court, in which he is accused of being the father of a baby born to a 17-year-old girl, was continued.

It was expected that the case would be completed today. Serna claims that on the date of the alleged offense, Feb. 2, 1936, he was attending a wedding in Cypress.

BENEFactor OF Y. M. C. A. HERE DIES

N. H. Leonard, Retired Rancher, Succumbs at Home Here

Nereus H. Leonard, 85, retired rancher and philanthropist, died yesterday at his home, 620 North Ross street.

Among his many philanthropies was a $25,000 contribution to the Y. M. C. A. when its new building was constructed here. His funeral service will be read Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Y. M. C. A. by the Rev. David McCloud, former pastor of the Free Methodist church here. Burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Among Mr. Leonard's other contributions to social service organizations was a gift of $14,500 to the Women's Christian Temperance Union home at Eagle Rock and a $2,000 contribution to the Santa Ana chapter of the W. C. T. U.

He was born in Greensborough, N. C., and lived in Santa Ana for 39 years. He was the owner of extensive citrus holdings in the West Orange district.

He survived by his wife, Mrs. Lucy A. Leonard; and four children, Mrs. Eleanor Minter, Mrs. Edith Vose, Mrs. Frances W. Todd, and D. P. Leonard, all of West Orange.

REPORT FLU IS ON DECLINE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Health authorities hoped an epidemic of influenza on the Pacific coast was on the decline with announcement of a decrease in illness among urban populations.

Los Angeles yesterday reported a total of 472 cases, 59 less than the previous day. The week's total is 200 under that of the week before. Only nine schools in Los Angeles county are closed, County Superintendent A. R. Clifton said.

One hundred and forty-six new cases were reported yesterday by authorities in San Francisco, a marked decrease.

Seattle's death toll from influenza and pneumonia this month is only slightly above the average. Health Commissioner Frank M. Carroll expressed belief the epidemic is on the wane.

NAVY SHIPS HOP FOR HAWAII

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The greatest mass naval trans-oceanic single hop air flight officially got under way for Honolulu at 8:30 o'clock this morning, the navy air station announced.

The twelve new giant patrol planes gathered 10,000 feet in the air above Point Loma, peninsula headland off San Diego.

It required an hour and 38 minutes for the big ships to get into formation and commence their flight after the first one took off from the naval air station waters at 8:57 o'clock, first in units of three, then in squadron formation of 12 at this two-mile elevation.

The squadron left here with the expectation of alighting on Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, within 20 hours, in time to eat tomorrow's breakfast at the island naval base.

Ask Death Penalty For Red Plotters

MOSCOW (AP)—Seventeen confessed plotters "must pay with their heads" for attempting to overthrow the Soviet government of Joseph Stalin, Prosecutor Andrei Vishinsky demanded in court today.

The Russian attorney general, basing verbally at the prisoners in his closing trial statement, used the language of Karl Radek, celebrated newspaper commentator and one of the prisoners, in demanding the death penalty.

Weakening Levees Hold Back Ohio; Thousands Flee

(By the Associated Press)
The flooded Ohio river, struggling like a captive serpent of fabulous strength, sought escape against weakening levees today on its cresting descent to the Mississippi. The known dead stood at 293, the homeless passed the million mark, an additional 500,000 were endangered, and property loss was estimated at more than $400,000,000.

Along the 1000-mile trail of desolation the slowly receding water lapped idly at empty houses in the empty towns.

The cost of rehabilitation, now becoming of paramount interest in northern Ohio river valley communities where the worst apparently has passed, drew estimates running into billions. Officials said the average cost for cleaning and drying out a single flooded home was $250.

Fresh dangers cropped out by the dozens as the crest of the flood swung south.

At Paducah, Ky., the next point of crisis, Red Cross officials hurried to evacuate thousands of reluctant inhabitants in advance of the oncoming flood peak.

Col. Chat Rhodes, U. S. army engineer, warned of a 61-foot crest within the next 48 hours.

Below, at Cairo, Ill., only men remained in the island city to bolster the 60-foot sawmill against an expected four-foot rise in the river. Eight thousand—mostly women and children and the aged—had already fled.

At Mount City, Ill., a back levee collapsed routing 650 men, 50 women and 175 CCC boys to higher ground.

On the Mississippi river itself, now beginning to stir uneasily under the vanguard lash of the Ohio's flood, the Melwood levee was threatened with collapse along its 392-mile boundary on the Arkansas side.

More Rain at Louisville
Hard hit Louisville, with the highest death toll in the disaster area, had its hopes darkened again today as rain began to fall.

In Tennessee, levee workers battled desperately to save the dike above Tiptonville.

High water that passed Cairo when army engineers dynamited the Bird's Point-New Madrid "fuse plug," to relieve pressure of the beleaguered city, rose steadily in (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

FIRE DESTROYS BAER'S HOME

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Authorities today sought the cause of a $40,000 fire which destroyed the country home of Ex-heavyweight Champion Max Baer and his manager, Anell Hoffman.

Hoffman said he believed the blaze was set by a firebug. Fourteen recent Sacramento fires were blamed by officials on an incendiary.

The former champion, his manager, their wives and friends were playing cards when a dog's barking warned them of danger. They were able to take only a few of their possessions before escaping from the blazing house.

Hoffman, linking the blaze with a firebug, said flames broke out in numerous parts of the house at once.

Illegal---Yet It's Legal

The California state law says gambling—except pari mutuel machines at Santa Anita—is illegal. District Attorney Menton rules that one certain kind of punchboard is not gambling—because it has a checkerboard on it—and therefore it is legal. Read today's editorial on this strange state of affairs.

Raps 'Lindbergh Memorial Flight'

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK—Dr. James H. Kimball, the weatherman who picked the time for Charles A. Lindbergh's flight to Paris, questioned today the value of the proposed "Lindbergh memorial flight" across the Atlantic next summer.

It is inconceivable, he said in a speech, that even 10 years afterward, any plane will improve on Lindbergh's "perfect" flight in anything except time.

The memorial was proposed by the International Aeronautical federation, the time is set for the first non-stop flight. It cannot be a solo crossing. It is inconceivable that the winner of this race, despite the advance that has been made in every line of aviation and piloting, backed by unlimited resources, can do more than shorten the time of the perfect flight it is intended to memorialize.

"With the world-wide publicity built up for this event there will be world-wide acclaim for the winner one day—perhaps two—but what will we read on the front pages on the next succeeding day?" "Something that you may be sure will place both the starting committee and industry in a very embarrassing position."

BUSINESS MEN PREPARE FOR ELECTION

Annual Meeting Will Be Held March 16; Will Name Directors

The Santa Ana Business Men's association today prepared to enter another year of activity.

Plans for two phases of activity in the association were announced today by Phil M. Brown, secretary-manager.

Annual membership meeting of the association has been set for March 16, and in the meantime new directors of the organization will be elected.

President Fred Newcomb of the association today announced appointment of the nominating committee which will name 10 members as candidates, five of whom will be elected to succeed retiring directors. Rodney E. Bacon is chairman of the nominating committee, assisted by Bob Fernandez, Plummer, Bruns, Walter, Swager, Ben H. Baker and C. Gilmore Ward.

Holders on the board of directors are J. L. Bascom, Rodney Bacon, Plummer Bruns and Bob Fernandez. Retiring members are President Newcomb, Ben Baker, Claude Knox, Walter Swager and C. Gilmore Ward.

Membership of the B.M.A. will begin balloting by mail on the new directors next week, it was announced. The new board will meet Feb. 16 for election of officers and organization.

MORE ABOUT FLOODS

The 131,000-acre spillway basin today. Hundreds who were driven from their lowland homes huddled in concentration camps behind the basin's setback levee—and wondered if they would be released.

Speed Life Saving Plans
While federal life saving forces speeded mobilization for action in the deep South, in the event the mighty Mississippi again conquers its banks, high army officials at Washington expressed belief that the removal of families below Cairo could be confined to small, low-lying areas.

Gen. Main Craig, U. S. army chief of staff, said the possibility of general evacuation was remote. He warned corps area commanders, however:

"It appears that a very difficult fight must be made to hold the main line levees along the Mississippi below Cairo, particularly in the Memphis district."

At New Orleans, engineers hoped to divert a portion of the waters into Lake Pontchartrain. While the Ohio showed signs of loosening its grip upon a wide area between Pittsburgh and Cairo, it became apparent the full story of the havoc will not be known for days.

Bury Dead in Trenches
Louisville, once gay derby town, now desolate, buried its dead in trenches as the flood waters began to subside. The number of lives lost was a matter of conjecture.

Mayor Neville Miller said there were 200 dead after the city's health officer admitted the bodies of 130 victims had been recovered. Tension eased as the river started to recede, although sickness was increasing, electricity was shut off, water rationed and sanitation problems increased hourly.

The threat of disease lingered in Cincinnati but there was hope and good cheer as rehabilitation efforts were begun. Water flowed into the mains from artesian wells after a famine but the supply was still short of the city's needs.

The war department was advised its forces were ready on a moment's notice to evacuate by land and water residents of any areas threatened with inundation when the flood crest pours down the Mississippi next week.

Reassuring words came, however, from engineers who said the river's billion dollar dike system from Cairo to the gulf showed no signs of weakness, and hope was expressed wholesale evacuation would be unnecessary.

"It appears likely that flood waters will pass down the valley without causing inundation," was the message Major General E. M. Markham, chief of U. S. engineers, issued through Lieut. Col. Eugene Reynolds, district chief at Memphis.

The immediate battleground in the struggle to control the rain-swollen torrent in its surge to the Gulf of Mexico centered around Cairo, nestling on a point at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

The 1300 residents of Tiptonville disregarded a warning to flee as the Mississippi threatened to cut a new channel across Snaky Bend and inundate the city. A city, not far from Cairo, Tennessee, safe so far from being engulfed, Cairo, bulwarked behind a 60-foot seawall, expressed confidence it would win its battle.

"Just tell the world we're here."

ANNOUNCEMENT

Having obtained a State Real Estate Brokers License, I shall conduct at 1252 W. Fifth St., at Bristol, a general Real Estate, loans and rental business. Transactions (sales, leases and exchanges) in gasoline, oil and filling stations with their sites and appurtenant businesses will be featured.

The Service Station which has recently been enlarged and improved, as well as the Wholesale and Retail Oil business that I have conducted at 1252 W. Fifth St. for the past fifteen years will proceed uninterrupted with the same personnel as heretofore.

I will appreciate being permitted to handle your listings or requirements in this new venture and assure you that there will be no lessening of the high standards I have always maintained in the old.

Tales of Tragedy, Pathos Come Out of Flood Area

By The Associated Press

Stories of tragedy, of pathos, came out of the flood today.

Flying from Louisville in a special plane, Mrs. Louise Elrod arrived at Bedford to claim the body of her husband, Leroy, who had committed suicide because of worry over her safety. Unable to communicate with her in stricken Louisville, Elrod, a bakery truck driver, shot himself in the head as he sat in his truck here.

Elrod told his wife and child good-bye last Thursday morning and started on his bread route in Southern Indiana. Then came the flood. He escaped north to Bedford. Efforts to contact his wife and child failed.

Fred Burke, 28-year-old tenant farmer who weighs under 125 pounds, carried his wife and new-born baby to safety through icy flood waters near Sikeston, Mo. Ice gave way under a home-made sled and Burke fell into freezing slush to his waist. He seized his wife and the baby, hoisted them to his frail shoulders, and carried them a mile to dry land.

Two small orphans of the flood were among ill refugees arriving in Indianapolis aboard a hospital train. Only a note pinned to the coat of the elder girl gave a clue to their identity.

"Please take care of us," the note said. "I can't any longer."

Our name is Sullivan. Suffering from exposure, the girls had wandered into the Clark County Memorial hospital at Jeffersonville after being left outside by a man unknown to the relief workers. They were taken out of Jeffersonville in a boat.

Among the flood refugees quartered at Mitchell is a parrot, brought by Mr. and Mrs. George Jett of Louisville.

Relief workers say the parrot cries raucously: "Get me out of here. Don't let the water touch me. Why didn't you bring a boat?"

John T. Millen, director of the Detroit Zoological park, dispatched two tons of horse meat by truck to save animals in the Cincinnati zoo from starvation. Sol Stephan, zoo director at Cincinnati, had advised Millen no horse meat was available there and that because of floods all other meat was reserved for humans.

New York headquarters of Commercial Airlines disclosed the unstinting loan of their equipment to bring succor to the flood-ridden Ohio river valley. American Airlines transported and will be for a long, long time," Mayor August Bode declared.

As the flood waters poured into the vast $21,000,000 spillway just below Cairo, engineers said they probably would reach the crest of the basin tonight. Then they will await the crest of the flood, with expectations it will hit Cairo about Feb. 2, and Memphis four days later.

Problems of restoration replaced problems of life saving in Evansville and other southern Indiana cities. Evansville estimated its damage at $16,875,000. Losses in other cities wrecked by flood waters were incalculable at present.

Refuse to Leave City
Smiles greeted hip-booted Gov. Martin Davey of Ohio as he personally admitted the bedraggled city of Portsmouth where 1,000 persons still were marooned in flooded buildings and refused to leave. On hilltops, between 30,000 and 35,000 lived in makeshift dwellings. Disease was no greater than usual, officials said. Water supplies were being rationed at Portsmouth and several other hard hit Ohio cities.

Red Cross and government agencies reported organization of relief forces complete in the Ohio valley. The Red Cross was giving relief in 179 counties in 11 states and was operating 198 concentration camps and 50 field hospitals.

The southern states of Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi counted more than 150,000 homeless and 34 dead. The vanguard of 50,000 refugees poured into Memphis while the evacuation of hundreds more continued.

Two national guard planes dropped messages over Arkansas' flood danger zone, warning lowlanders to evacuate. An area of 100,000 acres was threatened as the levee at Melwood showed signs of cracking.

Record Rains Blamed
WASHINGTON. — Charles C. Clark, assistant chief of the weather bureau, said today the rains that caused the current floods were the greatest ever recorded in so short a time over such a large area. Johnsonville, Tenn., had the highest precipitation of any weather station—23.11 inches—in the first 26 days of this month. This was a downpour of 2,611 tons of water to the acre.

Clark said parts of western Kentucky and Tennessee reported more than 20 inches of rainfall for the period. A wide belt along the lower Ohio and the middle Mississippi valleys received 16 inches.

ARMY COLLECTS FOOD FUND

The Salvation Army here today entered the crusade for funds with which to aid sufferers in the Middle West flood. Capt. Lewis McAllan announced that kettles for contributions will be placed on the streets tomorrow.

Santa Ana today had passed the $1000 mark in its contributions for flood relief. Harry Hanson at the First National bank announced that a total of $1,139.50 has been contributed for transmission through the Red Cross chapter here headed by Dr. John Wehrly.

Yesterday's pledges amounted to $379. The amount previously reported was $760.50.

Pledges made through The Journal office so far are as follows: Lawrence Lumber, $10; Jack Finn, $1; Mrs. C. B. Darnell, $5; J. Sims Fluor, $25; Mrs. "E. S.", $5; Friends, $2; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Skiles, $15; Mrs. M. A. Tate, $2; Woodrow Wilson P-T. A., $5; Ralph Williams, $1; Friend, $1; J. E. Liebig, $10; C. H. Smith, $1; J. H. Stewart, $2; Charles A. Grisel, $10; J. Vogt, $5; anonymous, $25; Friend, $1; Elvin Milbrat, $8; Lippincott, $5; V. C. Enberg, $1; D. H. Patrick, $5; I. J. Owens, $17.50; Edward Gall, $1; Main Service garage, $2; Salesman, $1; William Wagner, $5; Henry Breske, $1; Matilda Endlerle, $10.

Two bathing caps and a bathing suit were among articles received at Nayette, Ind., in response to a plea for flood refugee clothing. After examining the contributions, relief workers decided the bathing suit could be an underwear.

At Bowman field airport, approximately 100 expectant mothers yesterday awaited transportation to hospitals far from the flood area. Less fortunate women have delivered their babies in boats and trucks since the flood started.

In Third street of Cincinnati, just visible above 20 feet of water, is the sign: "This lot for sale or lease. No interruption from high water."

In the upper story of a Portsmouth, O., high school, 600 negroes held an indignation meeting when Red Cross officials tried to move them to safer territory. After prolonged argument the officials guaranteed in writing the free return transportation home of the 600 after the flood subsides.

With a touch of pride, Paducah, Ky., birthplace of the humorist, Irvin S. Cobb, named its chief hotel the Irvin Cobb. Today flood waters stood nine feet in the lobby. Upstairs were 800 marooned guests.

Radio pleas went forth from Louisville for the rescue of 170 women and 30 children, marooned in freight cars, without food and water.

Layton Has Real Estate License

Councilman Ernest H. Layton announced today that he has obtained a real estate broker's license and will conduct a general real estate, loans and rental business at 1250 West Fifth street, operating this department in addition to his oil business.

Layton's familiarity with the service station business, sites and appurtenances prompted him to give special attention to that line.

Wandering Cow Takes Long Trip

M. O. Long of Newport Heights is waiting for his cow to come home.

He asked the sheriff's office to have a look around meanwhile, to see whether they can't find Bossy. She's a light Jersey, he told Newport police, with a ring in her ear.

Funeral Saturday For Mrs. Patton

Funeral services will be conducted in Long Beach Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Manza Patton of Garden Grove, newly-installed president of the Standard Life association here, who died Tuesday night at her home following an attack of influenza.

Mrs. Patton is survived by her husband, John; a daughter, Verna, of Denver, Colo.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ethel Patton, and two grandchildren, Verna May and Beatty Jean Patton, Hermosa Beach. Services will be conducted from the Montell mortuary in Long Beach at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Eva Burdick Dies Wednesday

Mrs. Eva S. Burdick, 88, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 28 years, died yesterday at her home, 1039 West Third street.

She is survived by three children, Mrs. Carolyn Squier of Los Angeles, Mrs. Eva J. Combs of Huntington Beach, and A. O. Burdick of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. T. M. Gilmore of Santa Ana; a brother, James C. Marshall of Santa Ana, and two grandchildren, Robert Burdick of San Francisco, and Mrs. A. S. Lounsbury of Santa Ana.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Smith and Tutill.

JAYSEE MEN TO STAGE BALL

Date for the twelfth annual Bachelor's ball at Santa Ana Junior college was announced today by General Chairman Vernon Koepsel. The dance will be held at the Pacific Coast club in Long Beach, March 5.

Originally it was planned to stage the affair at Lake Norcorian club, but committeemen decided to change the time and place. The ball was to have been held Saturday, Feb. 27. The Bachelors, men's service club, sponsors the annual event.

Considered one of the most outstanding events of the college season, the Bachelor's ball is eagerly looked forward to by students. Preceding the dance, members of the club will hold a dinner.

Atwood Women Reported Missing

Two Atwood housewives were missing today, and the sheriff's office was attempting to locate them.

Friends told officers that Aliso Gomez, 18, and her sister, Angie Gonzalez, 16, both had quarrels with their husbands and had been missing since Monday night.

The missing women had mentioned going to Los Angeles to look for work, they said.

Railroads Carry Red Cross Flood Supplies Free

FEDERAL PEN WILL HOUSE SMUGGLER

Happy Birthday

FORUM CHIEFS ARE CALLED TO UTAH

Charles Wingate will have eight long years in prison to think about what a bad business it is smuggling Chinese into the United States.

Wingate, arrested by immigration border patrol officers in San Clemente recently, was sentenced to serve eight years in McNeil island, government penal institution, for carrying two Chinese across the border, Franklin Davis, county immigration officer learned today.

The two Chinese, Yee Yick and Gee Sing, were sentenced to serve four months apiece in the Orange county jail. After they get out, Uncle Sam will send them back to China.

Wingate was picked up early this month by the border patrolmen, who had become suspicious of his actions when he tried to run past the officers. He sped by in a fast car, but was halted in a traffic jam at San Clemente, where the officers caught up with him and discovered the two Chinese secreted in the rear of the car.

His family to the islands before the maritime strike, and Mrs. Glover and their daughter waited from Nov. 7 to early January for the sailing of a boat.

HORRORS, GIRLS! HERE'S MR. ORR!

They're carryin' out the sports department, one by each.

And now it simmers down to three guys who don't know a goal from a goalie, a touchback from a left scrub, nor a basket from a sea bass. Except "Brick" Gaines, who knows what a sea bass is, being a fisherman. A friend of his caught one once.

Anyway, Gaines follows this third of the column. The sentences ending with bangs—exclamation points—are written by Gaines. Which is how he writes. The other third, besides me, Frank Orr, is Roach Bradshaw, whose idea of sport is glowering from a desk and sneering:

"Where's that 'Meet Your Neighbor'?"

First Paul Wright got sick and thought he was being chased by a big black man with a big black beard. Then they carried off Uncle Bob Guild, The Journal's erstwhile Santa Claus man. Which leaves few.

And we're supposed to Column Left while these guys get chased by men with beards.

I might write a column about jai-alai. There's a sport. Cross between handball and lacrosse. It's rough and tough. And so is water polo. The idea is to kick the opponent—well, kick him—under water and make it look as though he tripped himself. In rugby everybody gets kicked, and a scrum is a peculiar looking thing, cross between a huddle and a merry-go-round. There are queer positions in marbles, too. And hockey and skintecat and polo.

"BRICK" GAINES DREAMS OF FISH

When, as I hope Frank Orr explained in the above paragraph, Sports Editor Paul Wright was sent to third, and then home, by Umpire Flu, and then Understudy Bob Guild also nosedived for the same reason, the Boss decided to run in a real amateur on part of this edition.

And so here I am. "To me, a basketball is something like a meeting of the Ladies' Aid or a dance of the Woman's Relief corps, where they bring baskets for prizes. And I've never even seen a golf, much less caught one!"

But there is one thing—ahem!—that I know a wee bit about. It has something to do with things that swim and crawl, and I don't mean aquatic athletes, either. 'S fish.

Right now, friends, we're facing one of the biggest runs of bonita along the county's coast we've ever seen. Either that or the angling prognosticators are wetter than the fish. All signs, it's claimed, point to a banner season with our finny friends. Already, according to Newport experts, huge bonita, weighing around eight pounds, are being caught. Later they'll be more and bigger.

Commercial fishermen are bringing in fair catches, right now, and when the full effect of this latest weather upset has quieted, there's going to be a lovely run of fish, or everybody's crazy.

In addition, the expert of 'em all, Lynn Scotsman, Jr., has predicted the annual run of croaker will start in Newport bay on Feb. 22 at 10:30 p. m. You can bet that for what it's worth. Me, I'm staying home!

BLAST FROM THE MUZZLE-LOADER

Even the most versatile sports-ter gets beyond his depth when he finds himself in a gang of muzzle-loading rifle fans. The football mania knows plenty about safeties, huddles and similar mysteries, but he's just a babe in the woods when it comes to percussion caps, flintlocks, powder horns or smooth bores.

And believe it or not, the sport of shooting muzzle-loaders is rapidly gaining in popularity. It was demonstrated recently when the first contest of its kind ever staged locally was pulled off at the Santiago Rifle range. The muzzle-loaders competed against modern rifles. The 20th century boys won, but the fellows with the guns made in '76 had the most fun.

It seems that all the fun has been taken out of shooting by the modern rifles, according to the muzzle-loader mania. All you do is pull a couple of levers, stick along the barrel, squeeze the trigger and bingo! You hit the bullseye. They say that gets monotonous after awhile.

The muzzle-loader gets his fun out of not hitting the target once in a while and then trying to figure out why.

He gets out his black powder and his bullets, tinkers around with them, decides to use a little more or a little less powder, maybe a different shaped bullet, and tries again. In other words he does a lot of experimenting—all the time feeling like he's a Daniel Boone or something because his shooter was made years and years ago and maybe actually was shot by one of Mr. Boone's pals.

In spite of all the experimenting, sometimes one of these guns will go off cock-eyed and that's really fun, they say!

Ready, aim, fire!

Fights Last Night

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago.—Leo Rodak, 128, Chicago, outpointed Armando Sicilio, 128, Springfield, Ill., (10).

Oakland, Calif.—Jim Hovey, 180, Pittsburgh, knocked out Frankie Hammer, 177, Oakland, (1).

Irish Heart of Mike McTigue Sets Men Free

NEW YORK (AP).—The forgiving Irish heart of Mike McTigue, former world's lightweight boxing champion, today brought a suspended sentence for two men who attacked him on January 16 because they thought he was a Nazi sympathizer.

"We're all Irishmen and I wasn't hurt much," Mike told Magistrate Leonard McGee, another Irishman, when James Carr, 27, and Frank McElhatton, 34, were arraigned on a charge of felonious assault. "I lost a couple of teeth and got a couple of black eyes but I don't want to press any charges against them."

SAMMY STEIN TO TAKE ON ROEBUCK

Upsetting the dope Monday when he beat Indian Jules Strongbow to win their no-holds barred rematch, earned Tiny Roebuck, the 285-pound Haskell Indian, and former all-American griddle, the right to face Sammy Stein, sensational Jewish flying tackle star in Monday night's three-fall main event at the Orange County Athletic club.

Stein and Roebuck are to headline a four-hour program which also shows the 290-pound Big Ben Morgan, bearded House of David wrestler, who is more of a wrestler than any giant importation brought to the Pacific coast in years.

Built up as a freak, and first given the name of Man Mountain Morgan, the bearded giant, demanded that he be billed henceforth as Big Ben Morgan.

"I'm a wrestler," said Morgan, "and not a side show freak. One look at this Man Mountain Dean, and I want no part of his name. Where I come from they call me Man Mountain, but out here, I'll use my own name, Ben. I don't want to become confused with a circus freak. People might get the idea I can't wrestle."

Morgan convinced last week's crowd he could really wrestle when he toyed with Brother Jonathan. Many were convinced Morgan wanted to get a workout, and let Jonathan stay as long as he did. Morgan will be given another test in Herb Freeman before going out after big game.

Other bouts carded for Monday night show Dr. Hall, winner over Baron Ginsberg and Bob Coleman meeting Johnny Berges of Long Beach.

VINES TWO UP OVER PERRY

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP).—Ellsworth Vines held a two-match advantage over Fred Perry in their cross country tennis tour for the first time today.

The tall Californian, world champion professional, won his third straight match from the rickshaws Briton here last night, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, to take a seven to five lead in the series.

Bruce Barnes topped George Lott, 6-1, 6-4, in a preliminary match and the two paired to beat Perry and Vines, 9-7, 6-4, in doubles.

Hammer Kayoed in First Two Minutes

OAKLAND. (AP).—Jim McVey, hard-hitting Pittsburgh, Pa., Negro heavyweight, took just two minutes of the first round to flatten Frankie Hammer of Oakland here last night.

The match, scheduled for ten rounds, ended suddenly when McVey uncorked a short left hook to Hammer's chin, cooling the Oakland boy for the count. McVey knocked out Hammer several months ago. McVey weighed 180 and Hammer 177.

Young Joe Roche, 117, San Francisco, and Joe Mendolia, 122, Manila, fought ten rounds to a draw in the other half of a double main event.

MATCH PLAY TO FAVOR LITTLE

200 Leading Pros and Amateurs Ready for Qualifying Round

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
SAN FRANCISCO. (AP).—Golf's touring professionals lay down opening bombardments today in the first round of 36-hole qualifying tests for the $5000 San Francisco 72-hole match play open.

The second round of qualifying will take place tomorrow with the low 16 engaging in match play elimination, two rounds on Saturday and two on Sunday.

The winner will draw down $1000 and the runner-up, $500. The balance of the purse will be split up on a graduated scale, among those losing in the earlier match play rounds and the 16 low scorers after the qualifiers.

Difficult Test
Close to 200 leading pros and crack amateurs were assigned starting times for the qualifying rounds. Unsettled weather, with probable showers, was forecast.

The field faced a fairly difficult golfing test in a revamped Inglewood course. Lengthened to 6300 yards, the layout required par shooting of 36-35-71.

Practice rounds indicated par was in for a beating, however, with the 64 turned in by Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., as the low mark.

Little Benefited
Snead, winner of the recent Oakland open, teed off as one of the favorites along with such veterans as Harry Cooper, Ralph Guldahl and Horton Smith, all registered from Chicago; Ed Dudley, Philadelphia; John Revolta, Evanston, Ill.; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa.; and Harold McSpaden, Winchester, Mass. Cooper set the pace in the Los Angeles open a few weeks ago, and Dudley won the Sacramento open last Sunday.

The match play aspect of the tournament was expected to benefit two stars, Lawson Little and Denny Shute, who so far this winter have failed to produce winning golf. Little, former amateur champion, and Shute, professional golfers' association title holder, rate high as match play competitors.

PGA OUSTER FIGHT HOT

CHICAGO. (AP).—Bob Harlow's battle for opportunity to speak out in meeting on his dismissal from the post of tournament bureau manager for the Professional Golfers' Association was blocked today by a legal stay.

Harlow, ousted Dec. 15 because, according to George Jacobus, president of the P.G.A., outside activity kept him from giving full time attention to the job, says he was dismissed without being given an opportunity to present his side of the case.

Monday, he sent photostatic copies of requisitions from five section officers, the number required by the by-laws, requesting a special meeting of the executive committee to Tom Walsh, P.G.A. secretary. Yesterday, Walsh was advised by an attorney that the original requisitions were required.

Walsh immediately returned the copies to Harlow along with the legal information.

Walsh also told Harlow that since the requisitions were filed, one of the signers had asked that his petition for a special session be withdrawn.

Harlow is not expected to encounter trouble in producing the necessary five. In sending in the first batch he said he had withheld several others.

COAST LEAGUE STAFF SET

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP).—President Wilbur C. Tuttle believes his Pacific Coast League umpiring staff will not cause him the headaches this year that it did last.

Bruins Tackle California Bears

LOS ANGELES. (AP).—Seeking to break a four-game losing streak, the University of California at Los Angeles basketball team leaves tonight for Berkeley to play the California Bears Friday and Saturday nights.

Coach Caddy Works named 13 men to make the trip.

Kenneth Lucke, weakened by a recent influenza attack, is going north but he has been replaced at guard in the starting lineup by Jack Montgomery.

10-YEAR tenure awaits Dana Xenophon Bible at the University of Texas. He's leaving a highly successful grid coaching career at Nebraska for a reported salary of $15,000.

GOLFING—Jimmy Fox is ready in Florida for his second campaign at first base for Tom Yawkey's Boston Red Sox. Here he rests after the cigar.

PAUL SIGNS—Although the St. Louis Cardinals don't know whether the younger Dean's ailing pitching arm will be available for duty, Branch Rickey got his signature on the dotted line.

DIZZY DOESN'T—The Cards are counting on the good right arm of Jerome Herman Dean, but Ole Dizzy's arm will be available for duty, says it'll cost more than the St. Louis Cardinals has offered to date.

ALL'S WELL with Pepper Martin and Boss Frankie Frisch, apparently. The Wild Hoss of the Osage went to St. Louis to do his signing up for the 1937 campaign with the Cardinals.

STEEPLECHASING often provides action like this but not many of such incidents are recorded by the camera. B. K. Tighe, gentleman jockey and owner, is being thrown by Monologue in the Leatherhead race opening the Gatwick meeting in England.

Turning on the heat after a stubbornly fought first half, Fullerton Jaycees' Yellowjackets continued to pace the Eastern conference basketball parade last night with a 48-30 victory over San Bernardino jaycee.

Ted Nija, flashy Anaheim forward, was the outstanding man on the Fullerton squad, with a total point score of 14. He tied Sid Bernardino's Chet Katzka for high point honors.

With the score 4-13 favoring Fullerton after 10 minutes of play, and 17-14 at half time, the Hornets really cut loose in the second half to down the Indians.

Capt. Jerry Katzka of San Bernardino led the game midway in the second half on personal fouls.

The Riverside-Pomona and Chaffey-Citrus games were postponed because they had just re-opened following the cold spell.

Schaeffer Leads in Billiards Tourney

CHICAGO. (AP).—Young Jake Schaeffer of San Francisco, had a 247-point edge today over Willie Hoppe, veteran New York star, in their battle for a $1,000 side wager and the world 23.2 balking billiards championship.

Schaeffer put in a big day yesterday, smothering the one-time "boy wonder," 309 to 62 in the afternoon match, to wipe out a lead Hoppe established by winning Tuesday night's engagement, and took the evening block, 250 to 191, to increase his margin. The San Franciscan went into today's afternoon and evening schedule leading Hoppe by 1,000 points to 753, with six sixlocks of the 2,500-point match left to play.

Holyoke, Mass.—Nick Lutze, California, threw Tommy Rae, South Hadley, Mass., back fall.

Los Angeles.—Dean Detton, 220, Salt Lake City, defeated Man Mountain Dean, 317, Georgia, (knockout).

Portland, Ore.—Vic Christy, 220, Los Angeles, defeated Bill Martin, 220, Boston, two falls out of three.

From Semi-Pro Player To Bush League Boss--To Czardom of Majors?

By DIX SANSFIELD
DURHAM, N. C. (AP).—William Gibbons Bramham, "king of the bush leagues," may be the administrative rookie the major leagues will draft into czarism when Kenesaw Mountain Landis yields as high commissioner of baseball.

Silver-haired, portly and 62, "Judge" Bramham has been mentioned frequently as a likely successor to the former federal judge, who was put in charge of baseball when the 1920 revelations of the 1919 White Sox-Cincinnati World Series scandal rocked the sports world.

As player, manager, club president and league president, the Kentucky-born lawyer learned baseball along the steel-spiked base lanes of the old days and through the red and black ink of the front office.

Bramham was elevated to the presidency of the National association of professional baseball leagues at the minor league convention at West Baden, Ind., in 1931. Relatively, baseball leagues were bustling faster than banks then.

Semi-Pro Circuits—He had played baseball in semi-pro circuits around Hopkinsville, Ky., his birthplace, served as president of the Durham club and organized the North Carolina league in 1921. At one time, in the early 1920's, he was president of four leagues simultaneously—the old South Atlantic association, the Virginia, Piedmont and East Carolina leagues.

When he became "king of the bush leagues," Bramham stuck the hypodermic needle into minor league baseball and squeezed in enough hard-headed business practices to bring it through the depression years. His accomplishment preserved the spawning grounds of major league talent.

Wild Extravagances—Elimination of wild extravagances of the past was the major step, Bramham said, in putting the minors back on sound footing.

"We want numbers, of course, but more important, we want stable leagues that will start and finish their seasons without dissolving," Bramham declared. "A league that is not financially and morally able to meet its obligations is better off if it does not start."

What does this man, connected with baseball in every capacity for more than 40 years, think of the game?

Have's the answer: "Baseball is a game of the people. I know of no other amusement which offers such clean, wholesome enjoyment to men, women and children. It appeals to those in every walk of life and is democratic to the limit."

PASTOR ROARS DEFIANCE AT BROWN DESTROYER

NEW YORK. (AP).—The training camp knockdown of Joe Louis echoed "round the fist" world today—and the loudest echo came from the camp of Bob Pastor, who tangles with the Brown Bomber in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Without referring to the story that Louis dropped to the canvas after sparring mate Eddie Malcom threw a right hand punch at him in yesterday's training session, the bull-necked ex-collegian issued a statement declaring:

1. That Louis "couldn't dent a pound of butter" if he doesn't have extra bandages on his hands.

2. That Louis "would not even be a preliminary fighter if he was boxing in the bare knuckle days," and

3. That the state athletic commission should "compel Louis to live up to rules and regulations relative to bandages."

Then Pastor took a deep breath and predicted:

"I will prove conclusively I will stop Joe Louis within ten rounds Friday night if he is not allowed to wear extra bandages."

The Louis training camp episode was regarded variously as "one of those things" and as a legitimate knockdown. The eyebrow raisers pointed out that if Joe kissed the canvas from a punch it would have the same lure for the fight faithful as a spilled

APOSTOLI IS WHIPPED BY OVERLAND

NEW YORK. (AP).—Fight by fight, it seems harder to figure out the middleweights than any other division in fistic circles.

In recent months, Harry Balsamo, Solly Kreiger and others have come near the top, only to be upset and shoved out of the running. A few weeks ago, Fred Apostoli came East from his San Francisco home, with a great record behind him.

Promoter Mike Jacobs signed Apostoli for five fights, starting with what was regarded as somewhat a "breather" with Ken Overlin of Norfolk, Va.

Overlin upset the bucket all the way before 2774 paid customers at the Hippodrome last night by punching out a 10-round decision.

At lot of the customers and ringside fight experts didn't agree with the decision. Overlin's fast start gave him an early advantage which the officials figured Apostoli, outweighed 155 to 159, never overcame.

Despite the setback, Apostoli was signed to meet Kreiger, the Brooklyn better, in a 10-rounder at the Hippodrome Feb. 17.

STATE CHAMP IS BEATEN

LOS ANGELES. (AP).—Mrs. Rose Eva of Portland, Ore., women's golf champion, entered the semifinal round of the Los Angeles country club's midwinter tournament today as the result of conquering Miss Peggy Graham, California titlist.

A 25-foot putt which dropped into the cup on the 19th hole sank the hopes of the blond Beverly Hills player yesterday. It gave Mrs. Eva the match, one up, as Miss Graham's own 5-foot putt was two inches short.

The Oregon champion had taken a two-hole lead on the first nine and she increased this advantage through the 15th to make the California girl dormie three.

Rallying, Miss Graham captured the 16th, 17th and 18th holes. Both medaled approximately 84's for the round, five over women's par.

Mrs. Eva's opponent today was Mrs. George Brown of Mountain Meadows who defeated Miss M. Garland Blevins of Los Angeles, Santa Ana team.

BING CROSBY GETS TRACK PERMIT

Norman Church Trainer Reinstated; Del Mar Racing Scheduled

LOS ANGELES. (AP).—Reinstatement of the veteran trainer E. L. Fitzgerald and issuance of a summer permit to Bing Crosby's new turf club shared racing interest today with Santa Anita Park's usual daily program.

Fitzgerald, employed by Norman W. Church stable, was absolved of blame by Santa Anita stewards in the asserted doping of Church's horse Proclivity. Instead the stewards transferred responsibility to T. J. Carroll, who they said had substituted for Fitzgerald since he was injured by a horse three months ago.

Pending more complete investigation, Carroll was suspended indefinitely. The appointment of Lester O. Lee as Church's trainer until Fitzgerald recovers was approved.

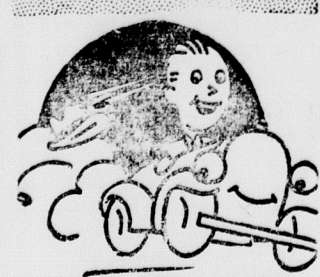

Crosby, president of the Del Mar Turf Club, obtained a permit from the state horse racing board for a 25-day meeting at the San Diego county fair grounds from July 3 to August 7 with three days weekly being excluded.

The film singer has as co-backers in the enterprise, actors Joe E. Brown, George Raft and Pat O'Brien, who is vice-president. Movie Producer William Le Baron is also interested and Crosby's brother, Everett, is secretary-treasurer.

At Santa Anita today the richest race is the Linda Vista, six-year-olds for four-year-olds with the purse $1200. Happy Bolivar with Jockey Jones up carries top weight of 115 along with Bubble-some, ridden by Knott, and Col. Ed, with no jockey assigned.

THERE are accidents and accidents, but who wants to slip and break a rib or something on a nasty, slippery old cigar butt?

No? Well, that's the way A. L. Tomblin fell over at Orange the other day, too!

Now, don't get getting the idea that Tomblin, who fights fires, fell on a cigar butt! Far from it. He saw one, however, that someone might've fallen on, if it hadn't been for his eagle eye. You see, he stormed into a meeting of the Red Cross and indignantly informed his colleagues that someone—probably one of the safety committee—had left this juicy example of the cigar-makers' art on the steps leading into the firehall.

"Talk about preventing accidents," he said, "most of them are caused by carelessness, like this shining example!" And from there he went on into his safety first talk about charity and most accidents starting at home.

So, if you have any old cigar butts about the house, heave 'em out the window. Or, if you're afraid the missiles will land on someone, send 'em to Tomblin!

J. D. Blanchard, who's filling H. O. Poort's column in the Town Crier at Laguna while the latter catches up on his schooling, takes pokes 'n things at this department on account of I made fun of his first two or three names.

He oughta know I was jealous, anyway. I wonder how he'd like to have been named "Thomas Nelson"? Tch, tch, Jacques DeWayne isn't bad at all!

Reports from the All-Year club or some like enthusiastic boosting organization tell us that tourists bring to California the second largest income in the state, topped only by oil.

Movies? Bah! They're way down the list. So's oranges. All sorts of manufacturing—and even newspapers—bring in less to the state than tourists.

And what do we do for 'em, huh? Just scatter beer cans along the highways and let our vacant lots go to seed! The dollar-scattering visitors can shift for themselves, as far as we're concerned!

Of course, planning commissions and city councils are doing their best to dress things up a bit. We're planting poppies and in some cases making half-hearted attempts to be pleasant to tourists, but on the whole they're just regarded as a bunch of dumb bunnies who break traffic rules and clutter up places.

And last year they dumped more than $100,000,000 in the laps of suffering Californians!

I'm not advocating that we turn the county over to the Iowans and Kentuckians and Laplanders, but why can't something be done—as has been suggested by several organizations—about the menace; about the rusting bones of wrecked machines along the highway; about weed-grown, jungle-like vacant land, and about ghastly billboards which hide our natural beauties? (Sob!)

About the only effort to attract visitors is made at San Juan Capistrano, where thousands stop at the mission. Last year Anaheim made a half-hearted attempt to add bewildered travelers by instituting their 18-mile drive through the orange groves.

And the Placentia Mutual Orange association—the idea, I think, was Harry Easton's—that outfit gives all visitors a glad greeting and free orange juice, and thousands of travelers each year sign the record book.

But other than that we just let 'em cruise through the county and take their own chances on seeing something worth while!

And we have things here that'd draw additional thousands, if they only knew about 'em! Take our coastline, for instance. The most beautiful marine scenery in the world, according to some. Matchless views of rocks and cliffs and roaring breakers (gee, I'm getting poetic, ain't it?) Take the view of Newport Bay from The Palisades! Nothing can equal that! Take Dana Point. Dave Prenter won't like this—that place should be publicized to the fullest extent. It's really historical, and interestingly so.

Take our groves—every rancher should greet inquiring visitors with open arms. Packing plant operators should chortle with glee when some snooping John Jones from Pawtucket peeks in the front door and looks interested. Jones is going to do his best to get some of the Woosib brand oranges when he gets back home, if he watches 'em packed, once.

I still don't think very much of this skyline drive business over Saddleback, but don't you think we could work out a county tour, with maps and leaflets, etc., for folks who are interested? And wouldn't it be better to run pictures in Eastern papers of beautiful gals picking oranges and lemons and maybe riding on surfboards, rather than telling weary residents of nearby cities of advantages of a carefree old age in Orange county by buying space in newspapers?

Of course, we probably haven't enough citrus left to offer free orange juice to visitors, but we might issue free tickets for a look at Skinny Skirvin in shorts, or something!

HEAVY SHIPMENTS FOR YEAR TOLD ORANGE MUTUAL GROUP

FINLEY TELLS PROSPECTS FOR 1937

Wages Paid Out Total $113,818; Crop Loss to Be Heavy

ORANGE.—Shipments totalling 275,985 boxes of oranges from the Orange Mutual Citrus association house here were reported by Manager L. F. Finley, at the annual meeting of growers in the Christian church here today.

Price received for oranges averaged $1.25 per field box, while the average for lemons was $1.67 per field box, Finley reported. During the past season 414 cars of valencias, 118 cars of lemons and one car of grapefruit, for a total of 539 cars, were shipped from the local house. Operating costs for oranges were 45 cents net per packed box and for lemons 75 cents net, Finley added.

Wages Paid Out by the association totalled $113,818, he said. "Labor difficulties caused some inconvenience," Finley added, "but resulted in little delay in harvesting operations. We are satisfied that outside influences were responsible for the strike, which worked a hardship on many Mexican families."

Possibility of a 50 per cent loss in next year's crop was indicated, when Manager Finley reported the recent cold wave caused damage equalling, if not surpassing the freeze of 1922, when approximately 50 per cent of the crop was destroyed.

Heavy Damage to the crop ran heavily to small sizes and the fruit was of inferior grading quality," Finley said.

Discussing the marketing situation, the manager claimed that far more credit is given the citrus marketing agreement than it rightly deserves. "Some are inclined to over-estimate the value of these marketing methods of so-called control," he added.

Bruce McDaniell, general manager for Mutual Orange Distributors, J. A. Steward, sales manager, and A. E. Isham, field manager, were speakers at the morning session. Election of officers was held, and a turkey dinner was served in the Orange Woman's clubhouse.

COP HALTS MUSKETEERS Constable Is Psychologist

LAGUNA BEACH.—Law enforcers at Laguna seem to have taken a few lessons in modern child psychology and the Art of the Colony might soon be an attraction for "problem children" judging from recent plans aimed to curb mutilating of signs by musketeers in the hands of youthful sharpshooters.

Constable E. T. Cresce, working with the chamber of commerce and the Fish and Game commission, is arranging to have a rifle range in some nearby canyon where the young marksmen can blast away to their heart's content and to the relief of nearby sign owners.

The march of progress caused removal of the original rifle range at Skidmore park several years ago, but the destructive urge continues to burn brightly in the breasts of the young huntsmen, causing Constable Cresce to receive commendation from psychologists when he simply wants freedom from complaining sign-owners.

W.R.C. INSTALLS LUTES TALKS TO GROVE GROUP

GARDEN GROVE.—Installation of new officers of the Woman's Relief Corps was held Tuesday evening at the Legion hall with Mrs. Gladys McDonald of Orange, past department secretary and organizer of the Garden Grove corps as installing officer.

Assisting her as musician was Mrs. Estelle Gray, of Santa Ana, a past department president; as conductor Mrs. Florence Merriman, Orange, and as color bearers, Nellie Murphy, Midway City; Catherine Parker and Elizabeth Wright, Huntington Beach, and Mrs. Radabaugh of Costa Mesa.

Elective officers installed were president, Mrs. Nellie Dunsdon; senior vice president, Mrs. Jennie Lewis; junior vice president, Mrs. Loretta Ferris; treasurer, Mrs. Betty Baldwin; guard, Miss Helen Claes. Appointive officers seated were Mary Pritchett, assistant conductor; Evelyn Scofield, assistant guard; Eunice Hill, secretary; Mary Clark, press correspondent; color bearers, Lillian Lovett, Clara Olson, Mignon Waters and Eleanor Hayes, patriotic instructor; Bertha Collins and musician, Anabel Bryan.

Other features of the program, arranged by Mrs. Anna Mosier, included presentation of two sketches by high school students under the direction of Miss Edna Condon and instrumental music by a girls' trio consisting of Betty McFarland, Norma Reid and Marion McKelvey.

LIBRARIAN IS CLUB SPEAKER

ORANGE.—Book club members held a discussion of "The Great Dictionary of American Biography" Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, city librarian.

Mrs. Faulkner said that Allen Nevins, in the "Saturday Review of Literature," said this work is the greatest contribution to literature ever made. He also said that it contains more of our history than has ever been written before.

Mrs. Faulkner also reviewed "Yang and Yin," by Alice Tisdale Hobart, and "Candle Indoors," by Helen Hull. Present were Mesdames Walter Pexley, Dian Gardner, A. B. Adair, Wallace Craney, Mary Gray, C. F. Rowell, B. D. Stanley, E. B. Workman, Anne Peterson, J. E. Parker and Miss Estella Campbell.

Bible Section Of Club Meets

GARDEN GROVE.—Bible section members of the Woman's Civic club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles George to continue their character study of women of the bible under direction of Mrs. Lewis Galt, Santa Ana, who devoted the lesson to a study of Rebecca.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Allen Goddard. Present were Mesdames Jessie Luchsing, H. Berman, W. O. Broady, Allen Goddard, Edward Chaffee, P. S. Virgin and G. R. Reyburn.

VISIT PARENTS MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Anschutz (Ilmae Henley), Redondo Beach, were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hensley.

VISIT IN SPRINGDALE SPRINGDALE.—Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Eucke, Lynwood, were guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Phillips.

ORANGE LIONS TO CAVORT IN PLAY

ORANGE.—A charity show, "The Gay 90's," will be presented by Orange Lions club members to-night and tomorrow night at the high school auditorium, with proceeds to be given to the local welfare board.

With an entire male cast, the comedy portrays a breach of promise suit, a wedding, and many other critical situations. Miss Audrey Northrup is director, and Gordon X. Richmond is general chairman.

In the cast will appear Ivan Swanger, as a judge; Alex Chastain as Dotty Perkins, plaintiff; George Bartley as defendant; Al Drum as defense attorney; James E. Donegan as court clerk, Councilman Cal D. Lester as best man, and 80 other Lions members as wedding guests, flower girls and the Humming Bird orchestra.

BIRTHDAY BALL PLANS TOLD

LAGUNA BEACH.—Preparing for a gala celebration of the President's annual Birthday Ball, Andrew S. Hall, general chairman, has secured two dance floors and promises a well-attended and lively occasion.

Playing at the Laguna ballroom will be Ted Coven and his "Saturday Nighters" while "C. R. and his music," an eight-piece band, will entertain at Hotel Laguna.

Assisting Hall on the general committee are Mrs. Carl Benson, Mrs. Earl Hatheway, Mrs. Jack Caley, Mrs. Everett Tawney, Mrs. Lytle Rankin, Mrs. Ada Purpus, Mrs. Mary Holland Kincaid, Edna Damron, Joe Frenette, William J. Harris, Ray Fisher, Gaylord Fanning, L. F. Mallow, George A. Portus, and John Gibson.

The following committee chairmen have been named: publicity, Ray Fisher and Ronald Vincent; games and decorations, Gaylord Fanning; hotel floor committee, William J. Harris; dance hall floor committee, Joe Frenette; ticket sale, Mrs. Lytle Rankin; bridge, Mrs. Everett Tawney and high school, Miss Patterson and Paul Colburn.

Hostesses will be Mrs. G. A. Portus, Mrs. Grace Lucky, Mrs. Jack Caley and Miss Mary Isch.

JUNIOR CLUB TO PRESENT TEA

GARDEN GROVE.—A fashion tea, to be given the evening of April 12, was planned by members of the Junior Woman's Civic club Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Edith Nichols. Plans were also discussed for giving a dance in the near future with Miss Frances Hammonette appointed to investigate concerning an orchestra.

Miss Gladys Cocherham and Miss Myra Lake were welcomed as new members. A social meeting Feb. 9 will be held at the home of Miss Dorothy Knapp with Miss Hammonette as cohostess, it was announced. Mrs. Dorothy Lake won the high score award and Miss Myra Lake the consolation gift in bridge.

Others attending were Mesdames Fairs Virgin, Blanche Guynn, Ruby Aabel, Juanita Dungan, Eleanor Wisner, Carol Fording and Mesdames Dorothy Gedney, and Zelma Van der Linde.

FORMER BEACH WOMAN DIES

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Funeral services for Mrs. Henrietta Robinson, who died Sunday at the Los Angeles home of her daughter, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the First Christian church. The Rev. J. G. Hurst, assisted by Woman's Relief corps members will officiate. Interment will be in Westminster Memorial park.

A native of French Village, Ill., Mrs. Robinson was well known in Huntington Beach, having made her home here for more than 20 years. In 1934 she left this city to reside with her daughter. Two sons also survive, Charles E. Doerr, Fort Worth, Texas, and Louis L. Doerr, Hutchinson, Kan.

Grade Mothers Of P.-T. A. Feted

MIDWAY CITY.—Mrs. P. H. Marshall, president of the Oceanview Parent-Teacher association, entertained grade mothers at her home on South Jackson street recently. Tentative plans for a school party to be given in the near future were discussed, also ways of creating interest in school activities.

Tea was served during the afternoon to Mrs. Bernice Pampin, Mrs. George Meinhardt, Mrs. C. H. Gaston, Mrs. George Harding, Mrs. Holclaw, Mrs. E. P. Mitchell, Mrs. Jessie Cline, Mrs. Dewey Wood, Mrs. T. V. Case, Mrs. Raymond Beem, Mrs. Martin Murray, Mrs. Vernon C. Hill, Mrs. Swartz, Mrs. R. F. McCormick, J. R. Peterson, Mrs. Branson and a guest, Mrs. C. W. Kiser, Pittsburgh.

ANAHEIM.—Savings of from 6 per cent upwards will be made by Anaheim electric users starting Feb. 1, following action of the city council in slashing all rates in their municipal electric system.

The new rate is intended to equalize the schedule between homes and commercial establishments, according to Vard Hannun, superintendent of light, water and power for the city.

The new rate reduces the minimum schedule for home owners and renters, Hannun pointed out.

Frank W. Honey Rites Tomorrow

ORANGE.—Funeral services for Frank W. Honey, 74, who died at his home near McPherson Tuesday morning, will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the C. W. Coffey funeral chapel.

The Rev. William Holder, pastor of the Christian church will officiate, and burial will be in Fairview cemetery. Odd Fellows Lodge members will have charge of graveside rites.

Orange Library History Told to Lions Club

ORANGE.—Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, city librarian, gave some of the early history of the Orange library and stressed importance of use of the library, when she spoke before the Lions club Wednesday noon.

Saying that the Orange library is one of the oldest in the state of California, she said that 53 years ago Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Tenser, the former at that time postmaster, were instrumental in organizing the library. The record of the real beginning was lost but she said it started from a small book club. The Tensers donated 300 books to the new library, many of which are still in use. The present building was constructed in 1908. A Carnegie grant having been secured in 1907.

She asked that businessmen use the library, and said that if any book is not on the shelves of the local library, the staff can obtain it from the state library if a request is filed. In the United States there are 6000 small libraries, in towns of 10,000 population or less, and the annual appropriation for these is $143,000,000, she added.

Councilman Cal D. Lester was program chairman and Wilbur Lentz presided.

More than one trillion feet of timber are standing in Washington, Oregon and California.

When Linda Marshall, American girl, is "lost over the Pacific" on a solo round-the-world flight, only a few persons know that she has deliberately disappeared to go to Crab Island, where her uncle, Copernicus Marshall, has established a Utopian community of natives and secretly made a scientific discovery of vast importance.

Patrick Flane, supposedly his friend and partner, is plotting to get hold of his "formula" and use it for the purpose of selling them. Linda, on a secret trip to Hong Kong for her uncle, discovers how dangerous Flane is, and enlists the aid of Tommy Drew, noted aviator and adventurer. They fly back to Crab Island, toward which Flane is bound on a private submarine.

Always, as long as they remember that half hour just before the setting of the sun when they sat beside Marshall on the platform on the Cliff of the Sun as the inhabitants of the island, gathered in groups according to their guilds, filed into the sections of the strange open-air arena.

"The people of the island are bilingual," the old man had told them on their way to the meeting place. "Among the Chinese whom I brought here with me many years ago, was one learned scholar who instructed those born here in both Chinese and English. I was fortunate in discovering an Oriental who was willing to work with me and to build this city upon the guild idea, which came to him naturally, as it is the traditional system of ancient China. . . . But here we are! I wish you could have been here before my friend died. Now I take on his duties as well as my own."

As Tommy and Linda sat there confronted by the great gathering of the natives of the strange island, it all seemed fantastic—"or Utopian," they whispered to each other. Marshall addressed the gathering first in Chinese, then in English. Others who spoke used either or both of the two languages at will. It appeared that a spokesman from each group made some kind of a report which was annotated by a youth, seated near by, who operated the newest type of stenographic recording machine.

Later, after dinner, Marshall showed them his curios.

"Not all my time, you see, has been spent on this island. Since the World War—since Flane bought for me that old submarine—I have been able to journey to and from Hong Kong with comparative ease and secrecy. I've not attended to the business affairs for some years now, leaving those to Flane, but I do travel when I'm not working on something important in the laboratory."

"But your papers?" Tommy asked. "Isn't it a bit awkward? What I mean is, aren't you technically a dead man, according to our War Department records?"

"Oh!" The old man laughed. "I thought you understood! At times I am Patrick Flane. It's been turn-about with us for years."

Tommy wondered suddenly which man was the real Patrick Flane. Before, he had seemed so sure. But now, as they bade each other good night, he wondered uneasily.

It seemed to Tommy that his head had barely touched his pillow when a boy entered his room to awaken him with early-morning tea. But he felt refreshed and was soon up and dressing. On this day Marshall was to take Linda and him around the island while he made his weekly tour of inspection.

The followed several hours of such fantastic revelations that Linda and Tommy returned to the villa with their minds whirling. They were shown the experimental agricultural plots, where cotton grew—the fiber in a solid tuft, the seeds in a cyst below. They saw grains, which, according to charts, had been planted six weeks before, now ready for harvesting. Each kernel was perfect. No waste.

"My formula applying to plant life," Marshall explained, "has been perfected. But I am still experimenting with the formula relating to human life. In that field, I have not achieved as much as I hoped. That formula is still too imperfect to be ready for the world. But this very night, I shall complete an experiment of the greatest importance, which will prove one way or another, whether the regulation of human life through the means of my life ray can be completely successful."

They were shown the Dispensary—as they called it until corrected by Marshall.

"A dispensary is linked with pain and sickness. Our dispensary is called 'Fang Wuh Seng-Ming'—The Building of Life."

It was in this place that the individual formula is prepared. Each month of his life, he has a life-sugar pellet to take. This controls his metabolism and health. We estimate, when a person is born, what his expectant life span should be, barring accident."

Finally, they were clothed in voluminous insulated helmets, to be taken beneath the ground into the cavernous mines. They saw nutatinism as it was taken from its subterranean strata and carried in special containers to the laboratories.

But at no time during the entire day did Marshall make any mention of the secret "inner cave" where Linda knew the basic formula were hidden, and she dared not ask about it.

That night, as they were sipping their after-dinner coffee on the veranda, there came a stir outside. A rickshaw drew up before the villa, and from it, quite nonchalantly, stepped Patrick Flane! How had he arrived so soon?

It was a tribute to their composure that neither Linda, Tommy nor Marshall showed astonishment at Flane's unexpected arrival. But for an instant, complete silence greeted him. It was Linda who saved the situation by saying: "May I pour you some coffee, Mr. Flane?"

BUILDING IN INCREASE AT H.B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Boosting valuations to more than five times the amount shown for the corresponding period last year, the issuance of an $18,000 permit for a new residence brings January totals to $30,165, figures at the building department show.

Fifteen permits have been issued. The total amount expended for construction last January was $5430. Of frame and stucco with a shake roof, the new residence is to be one-story in height, containing nine rooms. M. M. McCallen, oil operator, is the owner and Allison Honer of Santa Ana the contractor.

Permits also were issued in January for construction of 20 cottages at the Seabreeze Auto Camp, three oil derricks and the addition of a room to a residence.

$625,000 IN ROAD WORK APPROVED

Supervisors Get Report on Projects Approved by State Body

Members of the board of supervisors today had an outline of the road projects approved by the state highway department for the new two-year period.

Copies of the report, which has allocations amounting to $625,000 in Orange county road work, have been presented to members of the board by Road Superintendent A. A. Beard.

The report includes $25,000 for the Capistrano to Galvan over-head drainage correction, $175,000 for South Main street extension work, $40,000 for improvement work on the Olive to Anaheim city limits road, $50,000 for realignment work between Olive and the Orange city limits, $20,000 for the Garden Grove boulevard through Garden Grove, Millwood to Sixth street, $40,000 for bridges and approaches on Tustin avenue at Santiago creek, $25,000 for line changes on Tustin avenue at Seventeenth, $45,000 for realignment and pavement on Ortega highway east of Capistrano, $70,000 for grading and surfacing Huntington Beach boulevard and Coast boulevard to Garfield, $75,000 for realignment work east of Olive and $60,000 for grading and paving Garden Grove avenue to the northern county boundary.

The amount of Orange county highway work recommended totaled $1,044,750, out of which $625,000 was approved.

NEGRO SINGERS COMING HERE

Presentation of a well known negro chorus at the First Baptist church Sunday evening was announced today by the Rev. Harry Evan Owens, pastor of the church.

The services will start at 7 p. m. The George Garner chorus of Pasadena has sung in virtually every prominent church in Los Angeles county, and during the recent California Pacific-International exposition in San Diego it made a total of 68 appearances in the Spreckels organ amphitheater.

The singers' fine interpretations of negro spirituals, plantation melodies, camp meeting songs, and excerpts from the standard operas and oratorios have not only made them one of the most popular of Southern musical ensembles, but

DIVORCE DECREE IS REFUSED

What happens now? Likely that's what Mr. and Mrs. Tucker are wondering today after Superior Judge G. K. Scovel yesterday afternoon denied both of them the divorce they demanded.

M. Corinne Tucker and Lloyd L. Tucker went to Yuma, Arizona, on Jan. 24, 1933 and were married. They had three children, all of them boys, two of them twins.

But, according to the complaint and cross-complaint, they didn't get along very well. In fact, the woman charged in her first complaint, her husband directed abusive language at her and struck, beat and choked her. She asked that she be given a divorce.

The husband came right back with a cross-complaint, saying the wife struck him, threw a cup of coffee at him and refused to be congenial. He asked that he be given the divorce.

But Judge Scovel granted neither one of them a divorce. In a minute order recorded in court, he found for the defendant on the complaint and for the defendant on the cross-complaint.

However, the husband must pay $80 a month to his wife for the support of the minor children.

have done a great deal to foster inter-racial goodwill and harmony, the Rev. Mr. Owens said. Outstanding in their extensive repertoire is the Du Bois Lenten cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

GROVE BRINGS $16,000 IN CASH DEAL

Idaho Buyer's Faith in Southland Unshaken By Cold Wave

Cold weather here doesn't scare people from Idaho.

Fact is, W. F. Stroschein proved this fact by laying out about $16,000 in cold cash for the purchase of a 10-acre orange grove from Miss Sedalia Cubison of Orange.

Set out in nine and 10 year old Valencia oranges, the grove is located on Seventeenth street just east of Prospect avenue. Stroschein, the purchaser, now is living on Greenleaf street, Santa Ana, but he plans to build a new home on the citrus ranch.

Another recent sale was made by Coroner Earl Abbey and Deputy County Clerk Basil Smith. They sold a house and two acre grove at Tustin to Charles A. Hill of Orange at $2000 an acre. They previously had sold one acre in the same grove to Dr. John Harris at the same figure.

Two Seek Murder Victim's Baby

OAKLAND. (AP) — A three-week-old baby boy, born through a Caesarian operation just before its mother died from a bullet wound allegedly fired by its father, became the object of a custody fight today.

Horatio "Ray" Randall, charged with the murder of his 19-year-old wife, Elsie, said he will contest a petition of Miss Amelia Hohnhaus, 50, aunt of the dead mother. "My mother is the proper person to care for the child," he said.

Miss Hohnhaus has identified Randall as the slayer, declaring she herself was superficially wounded by Randall the night of Jan. 7 when he fatally shot his wife.

Journal Helps Find Missing Woman

Word was received yesterday by Paul W. Neff, district agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, that settlement of a policy on the life of A. Grant McKee had been made with Mrs. Lila P. McKee of Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. McKee, a former resident of Santa Ana and Anaheim, was located last summer after an appeal for her present address in this paper. Mr. McKee's death had occurred at Somerton, Arizona, in 1934, and the company had been holding the proceeds of his insurance while endeavoring to locate Mrs. McKee, who was the beneficiary.

To Give Tests for Federal Jobs

Tests for the position of associate home economist at $3200 a year and associate exhibit designer at the same salary were announced today by the United States civil service commission. The position of assistant exhibits designer at $2600 a year is also listed.

The latter two positions are with the forest service, department of agriculture and social security board. The first one is with the department of agriculture.

Additional information may be received from Frank Cannon at the post office.

Kahen Returns to Business Here

Eugene Kahen, former Santa Ana business man and prominent member of the Santa Ana Breakfast club, has moved back to Santa Ana. He is living at his home at 917 Kilson drive.

He is representative in Orange county and San Diego county for the S. E. Rykoff wholesale grocery firm. For the past two years he has been in Los Angeles, acting as purchasing agent for the government.

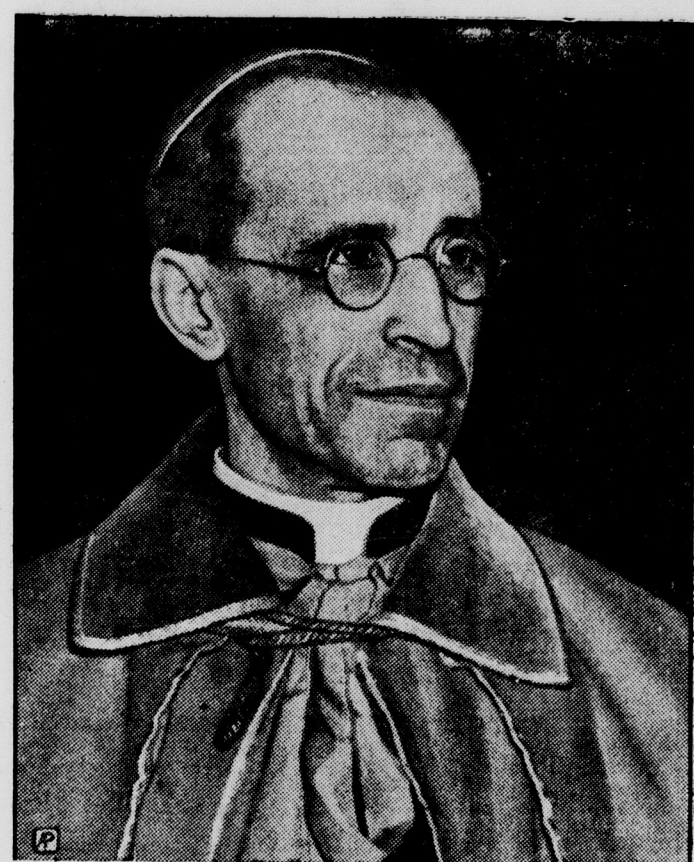

Kahen had lived in this city for 12 years.

San Diego Greets Marine Air Fleet

SAN DIEGO. (AP) — Flying through from El Paso, Tex., 51 marine corps planes arrived here yesterday for Pacific fleet maneuvers. The planes left their base at Quantico, Va., last week. A total of 935 marines from Quantico arrived here this week by boat to participate in the war games next month.

Pacelli Head of Cardinals Who Govern After Pope Dies and Elect Successor

Story of The Popes

MAY BE POPE 'PRO-TEM'—When the pontiff dies, the papal secretary of state, now Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, becomes a sort of acting pope until a new one is elected.

LIBRARY UNIT OPEN NIGHTS

The Julia Lathrop branch of the Santa Ana public library will be open three evenings a week beginning Feb. 1, it was announced today by Miss Ethel Walker, head librarian.

Serving both adults and juniors the library receives regularly more than 50 current magazines and newspapers, as well as having many popular new books, such as "Gone With the Wind," "American Doctor's Odyssey" and "Around the World in Eleven Years," in circulation.

The branch library will be open until 9 p. m. every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Library cards are interchangeable between it and the main library, and Miss Leona Calkins, librarian in charge, extends an invitation to the public to make use of its facilities, which also include all the standard reference works.

The Lathrop branch library is open daily except Saturdays and Sundays from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 6 p. m., and on Saturday from 2 to 6 p. m.

(Fourth in a Series)
By A. EDWARD STUNTZ

VATICAN CITY. (AP) — When death robs the Holy See of its supreme sovereign it becomes temporarily a sort of oligarchy of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

The college includes four American cardinals: O'Connell of Boston, Dougherty of Philadelphia, Mundelein of Chicago and Hayes of New York.

Sixty-seven purple-clad princes of the church form the oligarchy. But like all group governments one man stands out above the rest as supreme chieftain in executive matters.

Pacelli Ranks Highest
He is cardinal camerlengo, or chamberlain of the Church of Rome—now Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli. During the ensuing weeks he becomes a sort of pope pro-tem.

His ascendancy over other cardinals dates back centuries when the camerlengo was responsible for the supervision of tithes and fees from the various dioceses.

To Cardinal Pacelli, slender and ascetic scholar and diplomat who has always yearned for monastic life, falls the duty of authenticating the death of the pope.

A few hours later, acting according to Vatican law, he takes over the papal apartments. Swiss and Noble guards transfer their escorts of honor from the late pontiff's quarters to his personal residence.

Announces Death

The cardinal receives the Fisherman's ring, symbol of authority graven with the figure of St. Peter in a boat, after it has been drawn from the dead pontiff's finger by the master of the papal chamber, now Monsignor Arborio Mella di Sant'Elia.

Pacelli, acting as Vatican secretary of state, summons the diplomatic corps and apprises them of the pope's death. This is his last act as secretary of state, an office which lapses with the decease of a pontiff.

As camerlengo—one of the two offices which does not lapse—he calls the deans of the three orders of cardinals together and sets in motion the machinery which will govern the Holy See until the Sacred College elects a new pope.

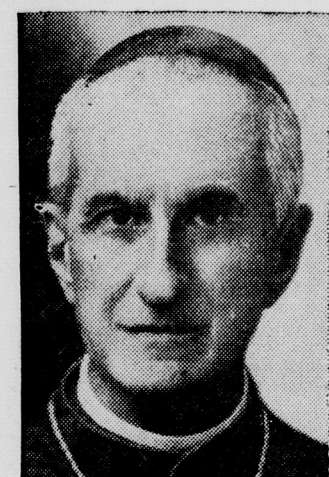

Committees Govern
The ad interim government is handled in a series of "congregazioni" or committees of four cardinals three of whom take turns according to seniority. The camerlengo is a guiding member of each successive committee.

The congregazioni may issue edicts, coin money or otherwise exert full governmental authority but they rarely take measures which might tend to commit a new pope.

Mostly they are limited to preparing the way for the election of the new pope. They must approve plans for the temporary block of cells wherein cardinals are locked during the electoral conclave. Secretaries, barbers, cooks, and kitchen boys who serve the cardinals of the conclave must be examined and approved in the congregazioni.

Mantles Removed
Cardinal Pacelli signals that the Sacred College is in full authority immediately after he has authenticated the death. Followed by the other cardinals he does so by removing his cardinal's violet "mantelletta" or mantle. These mantles will be assured again only after a two-thirds majority of the cardinals elects a new pope.

Although the greatest portion of administrative responsibility falls to Cardinal Pacelli during the ad interim government other cardinals, prelates and lay officers are prominent in its execution. They are:

Pignatelli Presides
Cardinal Gennaro Pignatelli di Belmonte, 85-year-old dean of the Sacred College. He must preside at the balloting of the conclave, which starts on the twenty-second day after the death of the pope, and to him falls the duty of asking the new pope to accept his sovereignty.

Cardinal Francesco Marchetti-Selvaggiani, vicar general and judge ordinary of Rome. He recites the first mass after the death of the pope and orders the death notices to be posted in all Roman churches.

Cardinal Lorenzo Lauri, Penitentiary. He recites the second mass and administers the incense over his late sovereign. He is the first to announce the identity of the new pope from St. Peter's loggia. His office is the other of the two which does not lapse with a pontiff's death.

Monsignor Arborio Mella di Sant'Elia. As master of the papal chamber he removes the Fisherman's ring. He is called on to close the state veneration of the body and at the funeral covers Pius' face.

Monsignor Joseph Wilpert, protonotary or ecclesiastical notary public. To him falls the duty of reporting authentication of the death and withdrawal of the Fisherman's ring. He must be present at the closing and opening of the electoral conclave.

Other Officials
Prince Ludovico Chigi-Albani, layman marshal of the conclave. He holds the keys to Vatican City during the ad interim government and is in charge of all civil arrangements for the conclave. His post is hereditary and has been held by some member of his family since 1712.

Prince Giuseppe Aldobrandini, lieutenant general of Noble guards; Colonel Giorgio de Suro d'Aspremont, commander of the Swiss guards; Colonel Arcangelo de Mandato, commander of papal gendarmes. To these military chiefs of the tiny state falls the responsibility of providing escorts of honor, guarding the papal catafalque and policing the labyrinthine little city as the conclave locks out the world and sets about electing a new pope.

Tomorrow: Electing a New Pope.

Loses Suit Over Loss of Left Eye

Lloyd Sheriff lost his case in superior court yesterday after noon.

In a suit filed against Gus Levantes and Esther Levantes, proprietors of the Star Cafe at Buena Park, Sheriff had demanded $20,180 for the loss of his left eye. He claimed Levantes hit him with a stick.

Judge H. C. Ames' findings were for the defendants, who had testified that Sheriff came into their cafe at 2 o'clock one morning and refused to leave at closing time.

Invite Officials To Bridge Fete

San Francisco has invited the board of supervisors of Orange county to take part in the celebration in honor of the opening of the Golden Gate bridge to be held in May.

The board of supervisors was invited in a letter received Tuesday afternoon.

President Roosevelt has been invited, too.

TO REGISTER FOR SECOND PERIOD

Instruction to Begin On Wednesday for Local Students

Registration at Santa Ana Junior college will be held for new and other students Monday and Tuesday, according to Registrar Mabel G. Whiting.

Freshmen and sophomores as well as new students will report at the college at that time for registration for the second semester. The schedule as released provides for registration of sophomores whose last names begin with initials A to K, on Monday from 8 to 11 a. m.

New Students Tuesday

From 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. Monday, sophomores with last names L to Z will be registered. New students and freshmen will register Tuesday. From 8 a. m. to 11 a. m., A to K students will register, while L to Z students will register from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Instruction for the second semester will begin Wednesday, according to Director D. K. Hammond. Many new courses are being offered which have not been on the curriculum the first semester, he said.

Instructors who have been named for this semester's registration were announced by Mrs. Whiting. They include Mrs. James J. Cottrell, Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, the Misses Dorothy Decker, Genevieve Humiston, Mary Swann, Agnes Todd Miller, Lela B. Watson.

Other Instructors
L. L. Beeman, John H. McCoy, J. Stephen Bruff, H. A. Scott, George B. Holmes, Harry Jackson, Thomas H. Glenn, Ernest Crozier Phillips, H. O. Russell and Harold Moomaw.

Other instructors who aid registration are Mrs. Helen Deaton, Mrs. Jennie L. Tessmann, Mrs. Grace Krane, Miss Myrtle A. Martin, Miss Frances Egge, Miss Lucinda Griffith, Miss Hazel Dawson, Miss Carol Erskine and Miss Zena Leck, Roy Wheeler, Bill Cook, Blanchard Beatty, Alan A. Revell and E. M. Nealley.

Fishermen disagree on the best hours to catch fresh water bass. Some prefer the early morning, others the late afternoon.

20-30 Club Aids Flood Sufferers

Twenty-Three club members have responded unanimously to a plea for funds to aid flood victims in the East. At Tuesday night's meeting all members made contributions.

Frank Erler, representative of the Chevrolet motor company, exhibited four reels of talking motion pictures, including news events, formation flying by air planes, development of service clubs and an automobile durability demonstration.

Bride and Bridegroom Step Through Garden Gate for Pretty Wedding Rites

Miss Greene Is Pretty Bride

Christian Church Is Setting for Ceremony

Like a moonlit garden was the setting which Edward W. Greene of Orange created in the auditorium of the First Christian church for the wedding last night of his daughter, Miss Muriel Greene, and Floy Epperly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Epperly of Santa Ana, solemnized at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Mr. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the church.

Friends of the young people, whose romance started within the walls of this same church, where both have been active in young people's groups, packed the large, dimly lighted auditorium long before the service started, gathering to hear the half hour of music by the quartet and soloists of the church before the wedding.

Moon and stars shone in a serene night sky behind the white, vine-covered trellises which formed the background for the beautiful double ring ceremony, and the light of many candles cast a soft glow over the flowers and ferns in their snow-white containers. Asparagus fern and smilax was twined in and out of the little picket fence surrounding the garden and up over the archways and the gate through which the bride and bridegroom entered.

Sparkles of light from the flickering tapers were caught in the spray of the little fountain as it tinkled into the pool below and were reflected in the silver globe on a pedestal at the rear of the garden.

Potted pansies smiled here and there from among the ferns, and tiny little old-fashioned blossoms poked their heads up from the long narrow flower boxes at the base of the low fence.

A bird bath gave the finishing touch to the lovely setting, which was entirely the work of the bride's father.

First to enter the garden gate was the Rev. Buchanan, who has been a friend of the young bride and her family for many years. When he and the bridegroom and Bill Greene, who attended the latter as best man, had taken their places, coming in at the opening strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, the three bridesmaids in taffeta frocks of pink and blue started the processional up the flower-lined aisle.

Bridesmaids in Taffeta
The attendants were Mrs. Nelson Rogers (Nell Laub), who was a bride last August; Miss Gladys Gross, and Miss Jean McKamy, and the maid of honor, Miss Margaret Haskell, who wore green lace with a little short jacket. The three bridesmaids wore bandeaux of pastel colored flowers in their hair, and Miss Haskell had gold-colored roses at the back of her coiffure. All carried old-fashioned nosegay bouquets in paper ruffles, the flowers matching the color of their dresses.

A tiny flower girl, little Lorna Frances Williams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Williams, came up the aisle just ahead of the bride, scattering rose petals from a dainty basket.

The ushers, Nelson Rogers, Richard McMurray and Norman Pratt, and the three bridesmaids stood along the garden wall at either side of the center gate at which the vows were exchanged, and before which the bride and bridegroom knelt on a white satin pillow during the closing prayer.

Music During Service
Soft music from the organ accompanied the entire service, continuing the wedding music which had preceded the ceremony, and concluding with Mendelssohn's "Recessional."

The bride, her pretty blond hair only partially concealed by a little bonnet cap of lace with a halo brim turning back off her face, was a lovely picture in her period gown of white moire taffeta which buttoned all the way down the back. The dress was made with a high neck and long sleeves with puff shoulders, and over all fell a long filmy veil of tulle bordered in the same lace as that fashioning the cap.

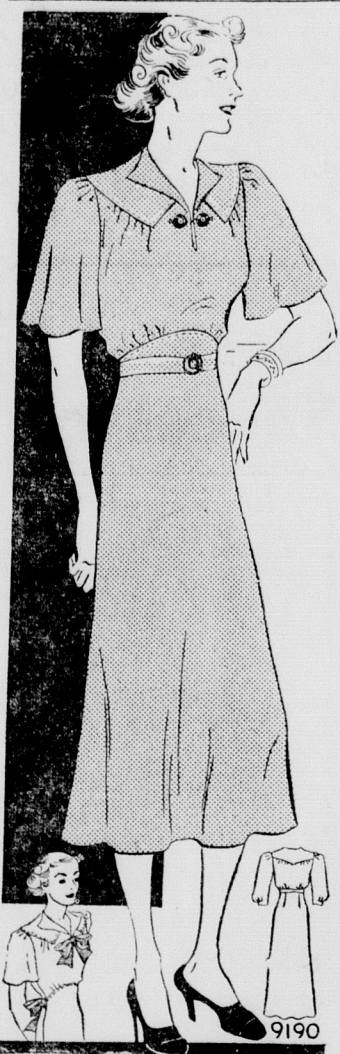

The bride was given in marriage by her father and her mother was a red velvet gown with rhinestone clips.

The musicians who furnished the lovely before-the-wedding program were Mrs. R. S. Briggs, who presided at the piano in the quartet and who later played the organ; R. S. Briggs, flutist in the ensemble, and who played a flute obligato for the vocal soloist, Willard Bassett; A. Hoskins, violinist, and A. Rodriguez, cellist.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, members of the two families and the bridal party participating in the social hour during which the bride cut the wedding cake.

The newlyweds are living in Santa Ana, where Mr. Epperly is a service man in the Dodge garage. Both are graduates of Santa Ana High school, and the groom also of junior college here, the bride attending the latter school for one year. Mr. Epperly has been a resident of Santa Ana all his life.

M. MARTIN FROCK-WITH-A-FUTURE GRACES MID-SEASON AND SPRING

Here's a bright, young frock—designed with an eye to the future, for pattern 9190 is just the thing to wear now 'neath your winter coat, and also to 'blossom forth' in this spring! So gay is this delightful fashion that you'll want to make several different versions in colorful crepe, flower-sprinkled silk or fascinating novelty synthetic. Nothing could equal the charm of dainty twin yokes topped by the jauntiest of revers, or fluttering full sleeves which may be gathered into demure, below-the-elbow puffs! And what's more you will find it's no trick at all to turn out this frock in a minimum of time, for even though you're a 'new hand' at the sewing game, the accompanying complete diagrammed Marian Martin sew chart helps to make this simple pattern even more easy! Send for it today!

Pattern 9190 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.

Book 15 cents; 25 cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to Santa Ana Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth street.

GIRL RESERVES DRESS UP LIKE HOLIDAYS

Eighth grade Girl Reserves of Willard Junior High school became personified holidays Saturday night when they gathered for a unique party in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, each guest dressing to represent a certain holiday.

Among the noted personages noted in the group were Ester, St. Patrick, New Year, "school days," "vacation days," St. Valentine, "wedding days," Christmas, and Halloween.

Each of the tables at which refreshments were served was decorated in honor of one of the gala days, and games played during the evening were representative of the months of the year.

For October, there was a treasure hunt, in which Virginia Jordan proved the most able discoverer. An Easter egg guessing game was won by Natalie Nelson, and a ring toss prize went to Priscilla Iley. Dancing to radio music represented New Year's eve.

Hostesses planning the party were Velma Hoehn, Beatrice Holman, Virginia Jordan, Susan McPherson, Lillian Tucker, and Irma Mae Yonel.

Guests included Melva Burk, Mable Cradit, Annie Cazares, Jane Downing, Frances Flood, Alice Graham, Priscilla Iley, Goldie Jacobs, Natalie Nelson, and Ruth Pickhardt.

Sponsor for this group of Girl Reserves is Miss Elva Cook, who is assisted by the Misses Roberta Nichols and Alice Myers.

BETHEL TAKES SIX INTO MEMBERSHIP

A formal initiation ceremony and a formal installation of their guardian council occupied Santa Ana Bethel of Job's Daughters at their meeting in the Masonic temple last night.

Under leadership of Mrs. Ada Lavender of Long Beach, visiting deputy grand guardian, and with Charlotte McCausland, honored queen, officiating, the Misses Sylvia White, Beulah Cady, Catherine Hembricht, Pauline Cave, Barbara Thwaite and Lois Wright were initiated into the Bethel.

This ceremony was followed by the induction of the guardian council into office, with Mrs. Baker officiating.

Mrs. William Dean will serve as guardian; Frank Sawyer will be associate guardian, and other guardian officers will be Mrs. Catherine Crowe, secretary; Miss Estella McFarren, treasurer; Mrs. Hortense Russell, director of music; Mrs. Fannie Bruns, director of sociability; Mrs. Ethel Christian, director of hospitality; Mrs. Mary Carson, guardian of paraphernalia, and William Dean, director of finance.

An attractive pottery cookie jar was awarded Mrs. George Walker for her high score of contract, while Mrs. Alvin Stauffer won a hostess novelty.

Those participating in the game and enjoying the sale course that concluded the evening were Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Stauffer, Mrs. Charles McDaniel, Jr., Mrs. Albert Harvey, Mrs. Edward Lee Russell, Mrs. George Spielman, Mrs. Robert Guild, and the hostess.

Sorority Is Studying Missions Sigma Thetas Initiate Nine

Missions of California are the chief interest of Beta Sigma Phi members this year, the girls having adopted that subject for their program of study.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator of the Bowers Memorial museum, gave an auspicious start to the series of talks planned for the coming months when she spoke to the sorority on the museum and its collections, and the help they could be in their studies.

The next address was given by Mrs. John Tessimann, whose topic was "Sacred Expedition." She told of that famous journey in the early days which resulted in the founding of San Diego mission.

Both of these first speakers are honorary members of the sorority. Mrs. Terry Stephenson spoke next, telling the girls about San Carlos mission in Monterey; and Miss Beulah May gave a fine resume of "The History of Poetry of Southern California."

William McPherson, who lived and taught school in San Juan Capistrano, told the group about the history of the mission in that town.

At the most recent meeting of the sorority, held at the home of Mrs. Sam Cash, 1141 West Pine street, Mrs. Coulter was again the speaker, giving this time a book review of "Warner's Ranch and Its Empire," by John Traynor, which covers the founding of the Pala mission.

Mr. McPherson will speak again at the next meeting, at the home of Miss May, taking as his subject, "The Founding of San Luis Rey Mission."

Other subjects are interspersed among the mission addresses and the extra social affairs of the sorority. Quite recently, a noted Russian artist, Arvenir Le Hart of Los Angeles, spoke to them on "Art—The Personality and Meaning of Color."

The members have produced an artistic yearbook, their own handiwork, containing a complete program for the year, with hand prints and other illustrations.

MRS. HUFFMAN IS DINNER HOSTESS

A triply festive occasion was the dinner party given this week by Mrs. Amanda Huffman at her home, 710 South Birch street, for the birthday anniversary of her two children, to welcome Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Robbins of Pennsylvania and Los Angeles, who have just returned from a visit in England. Mrs. Robbins, an enthusiast on antiquities, has frequently appeared as guest speaker.

The birthday anniversaries were those of Mrs. Arthur May on Jan. 24, and Dr. Henry Huffman, on Feb. 10.

Mrs. Huffman had decorated her dinner table very beautifully, with red chrysanthemums in a white pottery bowl, flanked by four white pottery candle holders with tall lighted red tapers.

The happy family group included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May and their children, Douglas and Irma Jean; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Huffman, and Bettyann and Harriet; and Mrs. W. C. May, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Arnold, Miss Lotie Arnold, Mrs. John Grant of Los Angeles, Arthur Hammond, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Robbins, and Mrs. Huffman, the hostess.

The birthday party was followed by a winter conference of young business women of Southern California would be held Feb. 12 and 14 at Glendale. A local delegation will attend.

CLUB SHOWERS DEPARTING PAST PRESIDENT

A number of lovely handkerchiefs were showered on Mrs. J. P. Wallace of 822 Cypress street yesterday at a meeting of the Mothers' club of the First Congregational church, held at the church bungalow.

The occasion for the thoughtful gesture was Mrs. Wallace's early departure for Hermosa Beach, where she will make her home. She is a past president and a charter member of the Mothers' club.

The pleasant meeting began with a paper-back luncheon with Mrs. Georgia Bradley acting as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ray Wolven. Conversation and sewing occupied the afternoon.

Next month's meeting on Feb. 24, will be held at the home of Mrs. F. L. Patrick, 2057 South Van Ness street.

Those participating in the happy get-together were Mr. and Mrs. Josh L. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Virginia O. Thor, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fin, Mr. and Mrs. Guy T. Maties, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fraley, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hayson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Loughton, and Mr. and Mrs. Spencer.

Sigma Thetas Initiate Nine

Candlelight and the sorority colors of blue and gold made a pretty background for the formal dinner dresses of Sigma Theta members and initiates last night when the chapter conducted its traditional ceremonies for initiation of its new pledges.

Dinner at Danigers preceded the candlelighting ritual which was held at the tearoom setting, little blue and gold place cards marking places for 16 Sigma Thetas and the nine who were taking the initiation pledges of membership.

Mrs. Van Pomeroy acted as mistress of ceremony, initiating the nine pledges and presenting each with the sorority bracelet as a gift from the chapter.

Chapter members present were the Misses Ruth Baker, Margaret Thomas, Louise Rurup, Virginia Gales, Dorothy Pettit, Betty Sullivan, Eleanor Rairdon, and Corinne Lecrivain, and the Mesdames Walter Mallot of Balboa, Van Pomeroy, George Bradley and Pomeroy.

To honor their new members, the members have planned a semi-formal dance for tomorrow evening at the Biltmore Bowl in Los Angeles.

Lovely midwinter formals worn by the girls added color and charm to the pretty setting, the pledges appearing in a rainbow of bright hues and lovely materials.

Miss McKnight was in black and turquoise, Miss LeGates in aquamarine crepe with crystal clips. Peach chiffon over taffeta with a little shoulder crepe was the dress of Miss Anderson; Peggy Suduth wore a blue crepe of a gold shade; Miss Pettit wore in black crepe, Miss Marguerite in black and white taffeta, Valerie Demetriou wore blue net over taffeta, Miss Campbell was in blue taffeta, and Miss Skeels in blue and silver lame.

SORENSEN IS CLUB SPEAKER

An interesting travel talk based on his recent visit to Denmark was given by W. F. Sorensen at Tuesday night's dinner meeting of Wrycende Maegden.

A brief business session was conducted before the program by Mrs. William Fritcher, president of the club. Plans for a benefit bridge party to be given next Tuesday by the club in the Y. W. C. A. rooms were completed, and it was announced that the annual winter conference of young business women of Southern California would be held Feb. 12 and 14 at Glendale. A local delegation will attend.

DOMESTIC ARTS CLUB GATHERS

Ten members of the Domestic Arts club gathered for their monthly meeting on Tuesday, enjoying a delightful day at the home of Mrs. T. P. Kingrey, 316 Beverly.

Luncheon was followed by an afternoon of sewing and conversation. Those enjoying the day were Mrs. C. L. Johnson and her daughter, Mrs. Paul Johnson; Mrs. W. B. Williams, Mrs. Thomas Williams, Mrs. Horace Leech and her house guest, Mrs. H. G. Powers of Rocky Ford, Colo., Mrs. W. E. Dixon, Mrs. Fleetwood Bell, Mrs. J. C. Sexton, and the hostess.

MARY STODDARD Says Girl Who Trespasses on Rights of Other Women Is Despicable

Janet is a young wife and the mother of a baby. She placed her problem before us last week—a problem that to her seems to lack any happy solution. Is the divorce court the only answer? She doesn't care for her two-timing husband as she once did, but if there were only a way that she might get him to settle down, she would go on and make a new start for the sake of their baby.

Here is one reply of the several received:

Dear Miss Stoddard: My ire was greatly aroused by the letter written by "Janet" in Monday night's column.

In the first place, it is a pity that this young wife did not know the true character of this young man before she married him. But people in love sometimes overlook a great many things.

In the second place, a person who has little respect for the responsibilities of marriage and is as spineless and lacking in character as this young man, does not deserve a wife, home or child. I realize that he is young, but anyone with a scrap of decency would not behave in the way he has.

If I were in this girl's position, I would not live with him another day, but for my child's sake, would obtain a divorce and demand enough alimony to support my child. Even though she hasn't money enough herself, there must be someone who would assist her until she was able to repay the loan.

She has already given him a chance to redeem himself, but his actions show that he is thoroughly selfish and thinks only of himself.

Perhaps she is partly to blame. There are usually two sides to every problem, but in this case, it seems to be his own-sided. It is evident that she went about things in the wrong way, but she at least is striving to do the right thing. To retain her self-respect and that of her friends, and to find happiness for her and her child, I would certainly advise her to leave him. Perhaps that will awaken him to his shortcomings and make a man of him.

I have been a stenographer for over five years and come in contact with a great many people. During that time, my opinion of men, especially married men, has greatly decreased.

I am young and considered attractive and, although I realize it is mainly to satisfy their own ego, I wish that men would realize that even though one woman found them attractive enough to marry, they do not appear that way to everyone.

In my opinion, a girl who trespasses the rights and property of another woman is quite despicable. She is not only causing someone else unhappiness, but will also cause unhappiness for herself.

Marriage is not ideal. Nothing will ever make it so, but if two people honestly endeavor to cooperate in making life as pleasant for each other as possible, and if they have a clear conception of faithfulness and fair play, there is no reason in the world why they shouldn't make a success of it. Of course both parties must make an effort, otherwise trouble is bound to arise.

I suppose all marriages become humdrum and uninteresting at times, but everything does. People who are continuously falling in and out of love and seeking new thrills never will be happy because they never will be content or realize true values.

If people who plan to be married would stop to take more things into consideration before the fatal step and would realize its responsibilities, there would be fewer divorces.

Love and physical attraction do not last forever, and if a man and woman do not have true devotion and regard for each other to fall back on the trouble begins.

If people would adhere to "old-fashioned" standards a little more closely, there would be less unhappiness in the world.

Sincerely,
MISS TWENTY-THREE

POETS TO GIVE EBELL PROGRAM NEXT MONDAY

Two brilliant leaders in the field of poetry, both recipients of the highest honors in the land, both endowed with charming personalities and both a delight on the platform, are to present a poet's symposium on Feb. 1 at Ebell club-house.

Audrey Wurdemann, Pulitzer prize winner, and the great-granddaughter of the famous poet Shelley, and Joseph Auslander, one of the great living poets and winner of more prizes than any other American poet, will furnish a delightful and intimate afternoon, wherein they will stress the inspirational power of great poetry.

Audrey Wurdemann is the youngest poet ever to receive the Pulitzer prize and the first to win it with a first book of poems, "Bright Ambush," which was published in 1934.

Joseph Auslander's volume of verse, "No Traveler Returns," published in 1935, established him as one of the great living poets. He has five other books to his credit, his latest, "More Than Bread," being published in October, 1936.

WILL WELCOME SINGLE GUESTS AT PARTY

The hostess group at the President's Birthday card party this Saturday evening will endeavor to welcome and introduce individuals who attend the party alone, Mrs. Aldric Worswick, general chairman, said today.

She urged the attendance of unacquainted persons, and also suggested that clubs or groups who plan to attend and to progress among themselves should make their reservations immediately, in order that their tables may be arranged together.

Mrs. Mark Lacy heads the committee making table arrangements. Her assistants are Mrs. Ray Chandler, Mrs. Paul Witmer, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mrs. C. W. Hill, Mrs. F. F. Mead, and Mrs. C. V. Davis.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lacy at 4636-J, Mrs. L. G. Swales at 1340-W, Mrs. M. Cloyes at 1109-W, or Mrs. Worswick at 769-W.

Past O.E.S. Officers Elect

Election of officers and initiation of new members were the two big events occurring at last night's monthly meeting of the Past Matrons and Patrons association of Orange county, held at the Masonic temple with Santa Ana chapter as host.

Mrs. Nellie Sylvester of Santa Ana will be president for the coming year, Mrs. Flora Bruns of Santa Ana will be secretary-treasurer and Ross Stuckey of Orange will be advisor.

The business meeting and initiation occurred after a potluck supper at tables attractively decorated in Valentine style, supervised by Mrs. Emma Folger and her committee.

Harvey Dimmitt was in charge of the initiation, which was of the humorous variety, including electric shocks, violent imitation windstorms, a haunted tunnel and all the trimmings. The junior matrons and patrons created a great deal of amusement, for while they were waiting to be put through the initiation, they literally turned the tables—on the chairs, too—so that they all had to be set to rights before the card playing that concluded the evening.

Junior past matrons and past patrons of the county who were present to be initiated included Mrs. Esther Long, Mrs. Nellie Kirk and Ed Lacey of Fullerton; Mrs. Flora Bruns, Miss Henrietta Bohling, Wilfred Lewis, and Carlyle Dennis of Santa Ana; Emma Lachenmeyer and William Scheffele of Artesia; Mrs. Ina Liles and J. S. Nittel of Yorba Linda; Mrs. Jean McAdam and David Todd of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Mabel Lambert and Dr. B. B. Mason of Laguna Beach.

GOLDEN STATE PARLOR MEETS

Mrs. Nellie Baker presided as oracle for the first time since her formal installation when Golden State parlor of the Royal Neighbors of America met last night.

A brief business session resulted in the acceptance of two new members, Mrs. Eva Stone, and Miss Pauline Chapman. It was announced that the Golden State Luncheon club would meet Feb. 5 with Mrs. Jennie Tulane, 1316 King street.

The meeting adjourned early in order that the members might attend formal installation services of the Orange parlor.

Love and physical attraction do not last forever, and if a man and woman do not have true devotion and regard for each other to fall back on the trouble begins.

If people would adhere to "old-fashioned" standards a little more closely, there would be less unhappiness in the world.

Sincerely,
MISS TWENTY-THREE

ALTRUISTIC SOCIETY MEETS

Altruistic society of the Tustin Pythian Sisters met in the K. of P. hall in Tustin yesterday for a social afternoon and informal get-together to launch activities for the new year. Hostesses were Mrs. Pearl Furth, Mrs. Gladys Pierson, and Mrs. Lottie Nordstrom. Mrs. Yvette Shelden presided over the session which closed with a tea hour and refreshments.

FLOOD SCENE BROADCASTS FROM KVOE

Local Color Given by MBS in Radio Pictures of Disaster Area

With broadcasts originating in the Mississippi flood area, listeners to KVOE and the Mutual-Don Lee broadcasting system are being given frequent, authentic and complete descriptions of conditions and developments as they occur.

These broadcasts are made at various times of the day and are scheduled only a few hours in advance because of the emergency nature of the situation. Many of the broadcasts originate at WLW in Cincinnati, the world's most powerful broadcasting station. Others have originated at WNRB in Memphis and at other member stations of the Mutual system to give first-hand descriptions of flood conditions.

These broadcasts will continue until the emergency subsides.

'Modulations From KVOE'

"A Plan for Successful Typewriting" is the topic of the first of a series of broadcasts to be made by Mrs. Helen Walden, instructor of typewriting in the adult education department, Santa Ana City Schools, from KVOE tomorrow morning at 10:30.

The Orange County Federal Forum broadcast tomorrow morning at 11:15 will comprise a discussion of ways and means for avoiding unemployment by means of technological changes.

Tonight's presentation by O. R. Haan, Orange county distributor for Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles, will offer the music of Sterling Young and his orchestra at 8:30 tonight. Tunes will include "When My Dream Boat Comes Home," "Goodnight, My Love," "Trust in Me" and "There's Frost on the Moon."

Having bowed out of the Monday night spot to make way for President Roosevelt's message, George Fischer's "Hollywood Whispers" will this week (only) be broadcast by KVOE at 7 o'clock tonight.

"World Affairs," the widely followed survey of international trends and events conducted by Dr. Adamantios Polyzoides, will this week be broadcast by KVOE from 7:15 to 7:30.

Next week, "World Affairs" will return to its regular schedule of Mondays at the same hour.

Postmaster on KVOE Tonight

The second of two special broadcasts on behalf of the three events to be held in Santa Ana next Saturday night celebrating the president's birthday and for the purpose of raising funds to stamp out infantile paralysis, is scheduled on KVOE tonight at 8:45 and will present a dramatic sketch entitled "Hoover" and a brief talk by Postmaster Frank Harwood.

The dramatic sketch will be headed by Miss Irene Rich, distinguished star of radio, screen and stage. She will be assisted by other "well knowns" in radio and on the Broadway stage.

Santa Ana's events will include a dance at the Masonic temple, a card party and a vaudeville show at the Ebell club. Admission to any one of these events will be 50 cents.

Paula Winslowe in 'Drums' Cast

Paula Winslowe, popular radio actress, will be found in the cast of "Drums" when the latest episode of the adventure serial starring William Farnum is broadcast by KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting System from 6:45 to 7:00 o'clock tonight.

Miss Winslowe will be heard in the role of an aged Hindu woman, another of the mysterious Sarojini Nayada, who has been added complications to the plot of late.

More Hawaiian Music Tonight

From far away Honolulu comes another program of languorous music, featuring the Royal Hawaiian Girls' Glee club, a group of male singers known as the Surf Board Riders and Alvin Isaac's orchestra. Another group of 48 states will be honored in the "Hawaiian Serenaders" program to be broadcast by KVOE tonight at 6:30.

The program is broadcast by short-wave to San Francisco and released by the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting System and KVOE.

True Crime Story on KVOE Tonight

The title of the current "Calling All Cars" drama, "You Can't Kill a Cop," might have been supplemented with "and get away with it" for the fact is clearly illustrated in the broadcast from KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system, from 8 to 8:30 tonight.

Colorful Panel a Delight to Stitch

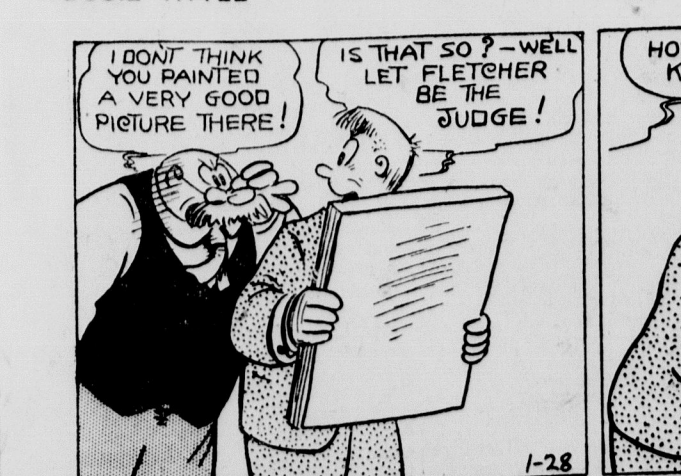

PATTERN 5784

The old oaken bench—dear in memory and in song—is the outstanding feature of this lovely hanging. This rustic scene is embroidered in the easiest of stitches yet, done in wool or silk, makes a striking decoration. You need only line it up, then it's ready to hang up! In pattern 5784 you will find a transfer pattern of a picture hanging up! In color key and chart; material requirements, illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and Pattern Number.
